American Fleet Plans Greatest Pacific Maneuvers

EAST COAST SHIPS WILL PARTICIPATE

Entire North Pacific Island To Be Encompassed, Reports Indicate

NEW CRUISERS ADDED

Gunnery Exercises To Precede Maneuvers; Planes And Macon Take Part

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Dec. 29.—(UP)—The United States fleet will participate in American history next spring, encompassing the entire North Pacific island, according to plans announced today by Admiral Joseph M. Reeves.

From the Tropic of Cancer to the Aleutian Islands, from the California coast to Midway Island, 1200 miles west of Honolulu, an area of more than 5,000,000 miles, practically every craft in the United States navy will sail over a period of several months.

The mighty armada will mobilize in the Los Angeles-San Diego, San Francisco and Puget Sound areas in April. Cruisers of the scouting fleet now on the east coast will join the battle fleet, destroyers, airplane carriers and base fleet already stationed at San Pedro and San Diego.

It will number 177 surface ships, 577 airplanes, the dirigible Macon and nearly 50,000 officers and men. Five new heavy cruisers will be added to the present nine craft in the scouting fleet; 14 battle-ships, including the recently modernized Idaho, Mississippi and New Mexico; the four aircraft carriers; 52 destroyers, nine mine layers, 22 submarines and 39 auxiliary craft, will steam back and forth over the huge quadrant.

Midway Island will be the advanced base of the naval war games, but it is possible the fleet will steam as far west as Wake Island, another government possession.

The Southern fleet, from San Diego and San Pedro, will sweep westward to Pearl Harbor. The northern fleet will move along the Aleutian Islands to secret bases, which have been quickly mapped several years. From the past fleet a base force will be sent westward to Midway Island.

Preliminary to this vast peace-time movement, there will be gunnery exercises and other maneuvers off the Pacific coast.

The games are planned to be more extensive than the exercises last spring and last summer of the combined fleets which followed successful transit of the Panama canal to practice grounds in the Caribbean Sea, the orders show.

CRUDE OIL STOCKS SHOW BIG INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Administrator Harold L. Ickes today announced that stocks of domestic and foreign crude oil for the week ending December 22 totaled 323,736,000 barrels, a decrease of 524,000 barrels under the previous week.

Ickes said the decrease, following a decline of 1,710,000 barrels the previous week, comprised a decrease of 937,000 barrels in stocks of domestic crude and an increase of 458,000 barrels in foreign crude.

Ickes said daily average crude oil production for the week ended Dec. 22 was 2,480,000 barrels, a decline of 10,000 barrels.

FILM ACTRESS IS MARRIED TO AGENT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Claudia Dell, 23-year-old film actress, and Edwin Sifton, 44, theatrical agent, were married today by Superior Judge Fletcher Bowron in the jurist's chambers.

Miss Dell wore a plain blue tailored suit with a corsage of gardenias.

Following the brief ceremony the couple left for Palm Springs on a short honeymoon. They planned a trip to Europe upon completion of the actress' current film.

AMERICAN GIRL FACES GERMAN JAIL SENTENCE

Resident Of New York Is Held On Accusations Of Slandering Hitler

(Copyright 1934 by United Press)

WALDMOHR, Germany, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Miss Elsa Sittell, of New York, was in solitary imprisonment at the county jail today, facing a charge of slandering Adolf Hitler. It seemed improbable she could be released even on parole to await trial before next Wednesday.

It was understood G. A. Makinson, American consul general, was on his way here in an effort to see her. Miss Sittell has received no visitors since her arrest Monday. Requests for her release have been made to the state's attorney but no decision in her case is expected until after the New Year's Day holiday.

Arrested Monday

Miss Sittell was arrested last Monday, the day after she left Paris to seek the parents she had not seen for 10 years. She has been held at Waldmohr, it was learned, despite a statement by Waldmohr police that she had been indicted and imprisoned at another place which they refused to name.

The charge against Miss Sittell is "publicly insulting both Hitler and a customs guard who examined her luggage."

Court officials at Frankfurt informed the United Press that Miss Sittell said: "Hitler is of Jewish descent," and that it is with making this statement that she was arrested.

American Consul General Douglas Jenkins took charge of the case in Miss Sittell's interests today.

American Citizen

Miss Sittell, it was said at Paris, is a naturalized American. She went to the United States in 1925. She was born in Lorraine while it was German territory. When France got it after the World War, her parents elected to go to Germany; she to remain and be a Frenchwoman.

Miss Sittell had been employed by the New York law firm of which John W. Davis, former Democratic candidate for president and former ambassador to Great Britain, is a member. She was engaged in translating documents from the French.

Several weeks ago Miss Sittell resigned and sailed for France. She said she was going to seek her parents.

The Sittell case in some phases paralleled the experiences of Miss Isabel Lillian Steele of Hollywood who has just arrived in the United States after months of imprisonment.

In Miss Steele's case it was weeks before American authorities even learned she was held, and months before they obtained her release on charges of "espionage," never formulated and never explained.

JURY SELECTED IN COMMUNISTS TRIAL

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—With a jury selected today in the trial of 17 asserted communists charged with criminal syndicalism, only the task of choosing two alternate jurors remained before the actual taking of testimony was to start.

The jury of eight men and four women was accepted finally after the defense had exhausted its 95 peremptory challenges and but three remained to the prosecution out of a like number. Since the trial began November 26 a total of 247 prospective jurors were examined.

A special venire of 30 talesmen, from which the two alternate jurors will be chosen was summoned to appear in superior court next Wednesday. Prosecution attorneys said they believed little time would be required to make the selection.

GRAFT CHARGES AGAINST ARMY CHIEFS BARED

Secretary Dern And Grand Jury Will Investigate Committee Report

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—A war department scandal affecting the national defense shook official Washington today. Secretary of War George H. Dern and a federal grand jury indicated they would press for full exposure and stringent action.

The final report of the house military affairs committee as submitted to congress after an investigation into department procurement methods, bristled with broad charges against lobbying activities of contract negotiations.

It involved two high army officers, (unnamed), and revealed that Maj. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, chief of the army air corps, faced a sweeping investigation into charges that he had been "inefficient" and "testified falsely." Foulois was distinctly not involved.

HUNTINGTON BEACH PAIR STILL ALIVE

MERCED, Cal., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heaton, Huntington Beach couple, clung to life today despite physicians' predictions their injuries received Thursday, would prove fatal.

The couple were injured when their automobile collided with a stage on the highway south of here.

Nine other persons injured in the accident were reported improved today although three still remained in the hospital with broken limbs and other injuries.

DEBUTANTE PARTY IS CLOSED AFFAIR

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(UP)—New York society was amazed today. The sponsor of the season's most exclusive debutante party not only refused to give out a list of his guests to society editors, but also did his best to keep them from getting one. Such occurrences are unusual in New York society.

The sponsor was J. P. Morgan, one of the richest men in the world, who cares little for the customs and prejudices of formal society.

He gave a little party for his debutante granddaughter, Louise Morgan, last night at his townhouse where 500 guests danced and a score or so private detectives watched for gate crashers and society editors.

SECURITY FOR INDIVIDUALS ROOSEVELT AIM

Will Draft Program Dedicated To Forgotten Man, Reports Say

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—President Roosevelt is drafting a legislative program to dedicate this session of congress to the forgotten man.

One week from today he will present his plans in general terms. As the legislative schedule is revealed in detail it will propose a definite program of social security for the individual.

Mr. Roosevelt defines his security objective as embracing:

1. Proper housing.
2. Productive employment for all able to work.
3. Protection against misfortune through social insurance.

It is a long time program. Unemployment and old age pensions probably will be the first realization of it. A readjustment of the population by abandonment of millions of agricultural acres and the migration of hundreds of thousands of families to new rural homes would be necessary to achieve the new living standards sought by the New Deal.

The program was outlined by Mr. Roosevelt in a message to congress on June 8 of this year suggesting what he would ask of the new congress convening next week.

"Among our objectives I place the security of the men, women and children of the nation first," Mr. Roosevelt wrote. "This security for the individual and for the family concerns itself primarily with three factors.

"People want decent homes to live in; they want to locate them where they can engage in productive work; and they want some safeguard against misfortune which cannot be wholly eliminated in this man-made world.

"In pursuing this policy we are working toward the ultimate objective of making it possible for American families to live as Americans should."

"We cannot fail to act when hundreds of thousands of families live where there is no reasonable prospect of living in the years to come. This is especially a national problem."

QUESTION LEGALITY OF LIBBY'S CHILD

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Legitimacy of Libby Holman's son, posthumous child of the mysteriously slain Zachary Smith Reynolds, was questioned today by the Safe Deposit and Trust company, Baltimore, administrator of the vast Reynolds camel cigarette fortune.

In one of two motions filed in Forsyth county superior court, the bank said it had "no knowledge or belief or information" that little Christopher is "the child of a lawful marriage between Z. Smith Reynolds and Elizabeth Holman Reynolds."

The bank branded as "unconstitutional and without due process of law" any settlement which would give the child the entire $25,000,000 estate. A month ago Miss Holman, in behalf of her child, claimed the whole estate. This week, however, she agreed to accept $5,000,000.

SAAR TERRITORY IS CLOSED TO VISITORS

SAARBRUCKEN, Saar Territory, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The Saar was closed to ordinary visitors, and under a strict curfew, today until after the plebiscite vote of Jan. 13.

No foreigner may enter the territory except by permission of the League of Nations governing commission, and only those on real business are granted admittance. Cafes must close at midnight.

80,000 Men Reported On Main Front

Entire Issue May Be Settled Before League Of Nations Acts

(Copyright, 1934, by United Press)

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Paraguayan and Bolivian armies were locked today in a finish fight on three fronts in the Gran Chaco.

Enduring torrid heat by day and freezing cold at night, some of them with little food and almost no water, they fought with every weapon of modern war from bayonets to aerial bombs.

The fight had moved in from the jungle regions of months ago where wild animals fled in terror from the firing. The armies, estimated to be 80,000 strong, were fighting now for Villa Montes, the great Bolivian army base at the edge of the Chaco and key to the immensely rich oil fields of the Chaco and Bolivian groups.

Dispatches from the front to the Bolivian war office indicated the tacit certainty in the minds of the high command that the big battle of the bitter war was on.

Between now and January, when the League of Nations advisory committee meets in another effort to end the war, it seemed that the entire issue might be determined—a stalemate caused by a stubborn Bolivian defense, or a victory brought about by a Paraguayan advance to Villa Montes.

For weeks the Paraguayans have been thrusting toward Villa Montes while the Bolivians have been engaging in a series of strategic retreats by which they hoped to select their own grounds for a stubborn defense of the area.

Now the Paraguayans have begun their attack. Gen. Jose Felix Estigarribia, the brilliant Paraguayan commander in chief, advanced the French-taught tactics with which he flanked the Bolivians and launched a major attack.

One Paraguayan army moved south-southwestward on Villa Montes from the Carandaiti area; a second more nearly westward from the Capirenda area; a third sought to pass northwestward the Bolivian Fort D'Orbigny on the Pilcomayo river fronting on Argentina.

MRS. BROWNING IS FREED FROM PRISON

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Mrs. Margaret Browning, Chowchilla club woman whose several trials produced sensational testimony, has been released from Tehachapi state prison after serving 18 months of her term, it was reported today.

She had been sentenced to serve from two to five years on charges of having performed an illegal operation.

Although it was understood Mrs. Browning was freed December 19, her name was not included in the "Christmas list" of paroles and pardons granted by the state prison board.

"It was an oversight," Warden James B. Holohan explained. Mrs. Browning once was tried on charges of murder but was released when the jury disagreed.

LONG BEACH, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Sam Parks Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa., professional lead early finishers in the first round of the California Open Golf championship tournament here today with a score of 71, one under par for the 18 holes. In chalking up the 36-35 score, Parks shot 17 straight holes at par and holed out a six-foot putt for a birdie on the 18th green.

BOARD NOT TO CURB DRINKING ON NEW YEARS

Passes Enforcement Up To Police; Will Watch Only Sale To Minors

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Conflicting reports of liquor regulation enforcement were clarified by the state board of equalization today as preparations were made to observe public New Year's Eve celebrations.

In the absence of board members, Elwood Squires, assistant secretary, said state liquor investigators would not attempt to enforce regulations except those concerned with licenses and the sale of liquor to minors. Local authorities will be relied upon to enforce other rules.

"It has always been the policy of the board," Squires said, "to prevent, if possible, the sale of liquor to minors. And the board's investigators will continue making arrests whenever they discover violations of that rule. Naturally, we hope to receive the cooperation of local officers in that respect."

"We have no intention, however, of attempting to curb drinking at New Year's Eve celebrations. Our men merely will watch for illicit sale to minors, and for evidences of places operating without licenses."

Squires announced yesterday that establishments which are serving liquor without the short-term licenses good for the last half of this month will not be granted permits for 1935. Investigators were instructed to visit places holding 1934 beer and wine licenses and determine whether they were violating the license law by serving intoxicating beverages without a permit.

Decision to make such a wide investigation was based on the fact that violations of that sort fell under the heading of "license evasions" and were matters for the board to handle directly.

Generally, enforcement of liquor regulations will be left to local authorities.

When an establishment serves liquor for a permit, it must post a notice of its intention to serve liquor. A license will not be granted until 15 days after receipt of an application. During that period, board investigators will determine whether the place complies with the rules requiring that liquor establishments must be equipped to serve meals, and cannot be in close proximity to schools, churches, hospitals or playgrounds. At the same time, local authorities and individuals may bring complaints against issuance of a license. In the event of complaints, the board will arrange a hearing before determining whether to issue a license.

If an establishment serves liquor without a license, the board men may make arrests and refuse to grant a license in the future.

At all times, Squires said, board investigators would be ready to cooperate with police in enforcing regulations, but most of this work will be left to the local authorities.

In most cases, it will be up to police to guard against operation of taprooms, barrooms and cocktail parlors where food is not served; semi-public upstairs drinking rooms in hotels; disorderly establishments or places operated for immoral or illegal purposes; sale of liquor between the hours of 2 and 6 a. m.; sale of liquor by or to intoxicated persons; serving of anything but 32 beer in a "beer parlor" where meals are not available.

MISSING AIRPLANE IS REPORTED SAFE

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 29.—(UP)—The American Air Lines airplane which vanished last night in a heavy sleet and snowstorm radioed today that it had landed safely with its four occupants on a mountain near Albany and was awaiting rescue parties.

The men, the radio communication said, huddled around a small fire all night.

The communication was cut short, officials said, because the marooned men wanted to save radio batteries to aid rescuers.

The plane, last reported at 11:41 last night after taking off from Syracuse for Albany, sent word to the Albany airport over its radio that a safe landing was accomplished.

The brief radio message said: "We are down but don't know where we are. We believe, however, we are somewhere near Albany."

HIROSHI SAITO SAYS JAPANESE SEEKING PEACE

Proposes Total Abolition Of Battleships; Ready For New Agreement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—A plea for arms reduction through new agreements was made today by Ambassador Hiroshi Saito as he filed Japan's notice of abrogation of existing naval treaties.

Saito said Japan was proposing total abolition of battleships and aircraft carriers and is "ready to go down to as far as half our present naval strength."

Saito expressed his views in a statement supplementing a Japanese foreign office explanation of the treaty termination.

He said "undue emphasis" had been attached to Japan's claim for equality in naval power with the United States and Great Britain.

"We have also proposed a radical reduction in naval armament capable of aggression," Saito said. "We are proposing the total abolition of big and expensive warships covered by the Washington treaty, i. e., capital ships and aircraft carriers. We are ready to go down to as far as the half of our present naval strength. But too little has been said of this."

"On both material and moral grounds we earnestly desire a substantial reduction that will free the nations of anxiety regarding the possibilities of war. We want others to be free of any anxiety regarding us, and we want to be free of any regarding them."

Explains Action

"It is to be noted that our claim for equality or parity is a necessary pre-requisite to such real reduction in the navies."

"The maintenance of excessive armaments is not only a heavy burden on all the peoples who support them but has the unfortunate effect of creating suspicions of purpose and giving rise from time to time to alarms. There is enough

OFFICIALS IMPRESSED

Notifies United States It Will Not Consent To Have Its Navy Limited

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Japan today formally abrogated the Washington and London naval treaties, effective December 31, 1936.

Notice that Japan is freeing herself from the limitations imposed by the naval treaties was delivered to the state department by Hiroshi Saito, Japanese ambassador, upon cables instructions from his government.

Japan called for a new "equitable agreement" that would impose the same limitation on armaments of all nations instead of Japan having the short end of the present 5-5-3 ratio with the United States and Great Britain.

This common upper limit should be fixed as low as possible, the Japanese foreign office said in a statement distributed throughout the world.

"In order to render it difficult for any power to attack another, but easy to defend itself, the offensive arms should be totally abolished or drastically reduced, and the defensive arms adequately provided," the Japanese contended.

Promote Peace

Japan said that "far from entertaining the slightest wish to enlarge her armaments, Japan endeavors to promote the cause of peace by establishment of the principle of non-menace and non-aggression."

Saito's visit to the state department was a legal formality required by the terms of the Washington treaty to set the machinery in motion to bring the treaty to an end. The notice had to be given before January 1 in order to terminate the treaty December 31, 1936.

NEWSPAPER CASE IS REFERRED TO BOARD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The NRA compliance division sent the Dean S. Jennings vs. San Francisco Call-Bulletin newspaper code case to the newspaper industrial board today.

Jennings, a rewrite man, claimed he was forced by the Call-Bulletin in connection with the American Newspaper Guild.

His contention was upheld by the National Labor Relations board, which directed the Call-Bulletin to reinstate Jennings. The paper failed to comply with the order.

The labor board then asked the NRA compliance division to remove the Call-Bulletin's blue eagle. The paper protested that the labor board had no jurisdiction in the case. The contention had been supported by Donald E. Richberg, director of the emergency council.

LOWELL SHERMAN CALLED BY DEATH

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The sudden death of Lowell Sherman, favorite actor, friend of Fatty Arbuckle in his time of need, and the man who aided Mae West on the road to fame by his direction of "She Done Him Wrong," shocked Hollywood today.

Sherman was taken from a motion picture lot yesterday afternoon suffering from a cold, and died last night of pneumonia. He was 48 years old.

Sherman was the victim of one of the hobbies for which he was famous.

When directing pictures he appeared in shorts and a shirt open at the collar. This, according to physicians, aggravated a case of laryngitis during which he lost his voice and was unable to speak above a whisper.

Grand Jury Probe

Federal District Attorney Leslie J. Garnett said today that "if conditions are as I understand they are, I shall present the committee's evidence to the grand jury."

He referred specifically to committee charges that high ranking officers, other than Foulke, had accepted loans of money or gifts from lobbyists in return for alleged information regarding army contracts.

Foulke's case was separated by the committee from those involving unnamed "high ranking officers." The veteran flier who heads the air corps was accused last June by the special investigating sub-committee of "willfully and deliberately violating existing law in the purchase of airplanes and aircraft material." His removal was asked on this basis and on others including a finding by the committee that "the accused superior officers of willfully attempting to deceive" the committee.

Bureau Contract

One high ranking officer the committee said had burned at his home a secret contract specifications document after showing it to an interested dealer. Another, the report alleged, conferred with a fugitive from justice, knowing at the time the sought for lobbyist was wanted for questioning by the committee. The report indicated the officer had sought the conference to silence possible production of evidence showing he had obtained an alleged $2500 loan from the fugitive.

Legislation and new army regulations were recommended by the committee to center army contract responsibility and to make competitive bidding more prevalent.

The committee, it was understood, kept the names of officers involved secret in order not to hinder the War Department inquiry ordered by Dern on December 13.

ACTOR ARRESTED ON GRAND THEFT COUNT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Charged with having obtained $500 fraudulently from Mrs. Beverly K. Ott, on promises of a motion picture contract and a share in his father's estate, Garvin Foss, 29, actor and secretary of the Hollywood Stage & Screen club, was arraigned in municipal court today on a grand theft charge.

He was arrested last night at the home of Reginald Denny, screen star, in Hollywood.

According to arresting officers Foss claimed to represent the estate of his father, William Foss, which was in charge of the First National bank of Memphis, Tenn. He was charged with having offered Mrs. Ott, said to be the former wife of a former Louisville, Ky. district attorney, an income of $62.50 from the estate and a motion picture contract, neither of which was forthcoming.

CROWN PRINCE OF ROUMANIA ON TRIP

ROME, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Crown Prince Michael of Roumania arrived on Brioni Island today to visit his mother, and reports were received that reconciliation between the queen and King Carol was in prospect.

Michael was accompanied by one of the king's aides, who, Bucharest reports said, was believed to carry a gift from the king for his divorced queen.

Arriving on the island Michael affectionately embraced his mother and said:

"I had a fine trip. I am glad to see you again."

DELAY CONVENTION OF NEWSPAPERMEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The call for a convention of newspaper publishers to decide upon their continuance under the newspaper publishing code will be deferred a few days, Howard Davis, chairman of the publishers' code committee, and president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, announced today.

Davis took action when he learned the NRA would not announce its final position in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin case until next week. He said publishers "have no desire to embarrass the administration."

During the evening a skit was presented by Miss Imogene Caster, Miss Betty Adams and Miss Betty Kingsley. The club will hold a regular session January 8 with a supper at 5:30 o'clock at the clubhouse. Mrs. A. H. Halleck will give a talk on parliamentary law.

NAVAL TREATY ABROGATED BY JAPAN TODAY

The move caused no surprise here, but nevertheless it profoundly impressed officials of this government, as it threatens to end 14 years of successful efforts by the major powers in the Pacific to maintain a political balance there through voluntary agreement.

The administration remains hopeful some new agreement can be reached.

Challenge to Powers

Japan's notice of intention to abrogate the naval treaty also was noted that after 1935 Japan will not consent voluntarily to be limited to a navy only three-fifths as large as the navies of the United States and Great Britain. To that extent her notice was considered a challenge to the other powers.

Whether a naval construction race will ensue depends entirely, officials here said, upon whether Japan embarks upon a building program after the treaty comes to an end on Dec. 31, 1935. Both administration and congressional leaders here have declared the United States will maintain the 5-5-3 ratio of naval strength set up by the Washington treaty. If Japan builds, the United States will build five warships for each three laid down by Japan.

The British government also has indicated its determination to maintain the present ratios.

Japan's action also is expected to increase the discussions concerning American naval and military bases in the Pacific, and the establishment of new ones. The Washington treaty "froze" all fortifications in the Pacific except Hawaii, in Japan proper, and the British giant naval base at Singapore. It forbade the construction of new bases or fortified areas in the Pacific.

Army and navy officials and some leaders of congress for several months have been pressing for the establishment of strong military and naval air bases in Alaska, although the administration officials deplore such discussion.

Strengthen Outposts

Plans have also been studied for strengthening the American military and naval outposts in Hawaii, Guam and the Philippine islands.

Under the treaties now entering up a two-year period of a "lame duck" status, Japan is forbidden to lay down any new warships until the end of 1935, with the exception of a single destroyer of 1500 tons displacement which is to replace a vessel which was lost in a storm last year. She is built up to the limit of treaty permission.

The United States must build 68 ships, in addition to those already building or appropriated for, to reach treaty strength. Great Britain must build approximately 46. The construction of these ships will produce approximately the 5-5-3 ratio set up by the Washington treaty.

The Washington naval treaty was signed at the conference for the limitation of naval armaments, called at Washington in 1921 by President Harding to put an end to the growing naval construction race involving the United States, Great Britain and Japan.

Concurrent with the naval treaty, other treaties were signed at Washington for maintenance of the political balance in the Pacific, maintenance of the territorial and political integrity of China, and of the "open door" policy of equal trade opportunity for all nations in China.

The London treaty, signed in 1930, limited auxiliary craft. By its terms it expires automatically at the end of 1936 unless renewed.

Official Text

Text of the statement of the Japanese foreign office concerning termination of the Washington treaty of naval limitation:

"In the recent preliminary conversations the Japanese government have been exerting, in cooperation with the other powers concerned, their maximum efforts for the achievement of a new agreement which will secure Japan's national defense and which will bring about a substantial measure of disarmament, eliminating all possibilities of aggression from among the great naval powers while lightening, as far as possible, the tax burden of the peoples. The Japanese government, after careful consideration from this viewpoint, are convinced that the cause of disarmament can best be served and the security of the powers permanently assured by concluding an equitable agreement founded upon the following principles which have been submitted to the other powers:

"1. In view of the present state of extraordinary development in warship, aircraft, and other weapons of war, the existing naval treaties which recognize inequality of armaments among the powers can no longer afford security of national defense to Japan. For this reason, the new treaty should rest not upon a ratio principle, but on the formula of an agreed common upper limit for the armaments to be retained by each power.

Fix Low Limit

"2. (A) In consonance with the spirit of disarmament, the said common upper limit should be fixed as low as possible.

"(B) In order to render it difficult for any power to attack another but easy to defend itself, the offensive arms should be totally abolished or drastically reduced, and the defensive arms adequately provided.

"In the light of these basic principles, it is impossible for the Japanese government to acquiesce in the continuation for a further term of the Washington treaty of naval limitation, which not only permits the retention of the offensive arms, but admits disparity in naval strength through the adoption of a ratio system. Moreover, the allocation of an inferior ratio, so detrimental to our national prestige, is found to remain a source of permanent and profound discontent to our people. Consequently, our government have long felt it incumbent upon them to give notice of their intention to terminate the said treaty at the end of the year 1935, namely, upon the expiration of the stipulated term of its life. Of this intention the British and American governments were early given a fairly clear intimation. The Japanese government, however, anxious to conduct the negotiations as amicably and effectively as possible, considered it preferable to make a joint notification of termination in concert with the powers concerned and in view of them to give such joint notice.

Full Legal Right

"It was only when those powers failed to accept the invitation that our government decided to act alone and give notice to the government of the United States of their intention to terminate the Washington treaty in conformity with the stipulation under Art. 23. Each contracting power has, of course, a full legal right to give such notice which is explicitly provided for in that instrument.

"The present step taken by the Japanese government is only a logical outcome of our fundamental policy which aims at the conclusion of another pact to supersede the Washington treaty. Our government desire fervently to arrive at an agreement which is just and fair for all the parties concerned and entirely in accord with the spirit of disarmament. They are prepared, despite the termination of the Washington treaty, to pursue with undiminished zeal friendly negotiations with the other powers.

"So far from entertaining the slightest wish to enlarge her armaments, Japan endeavors to promote the cause of peace by establishing the principle of non-menace and non-aggression through the suppression or drastic reduction of the offensive weapons of war. It is their firm belief that when the other powers, appreciating the essential fairness of Japan's claims, consent to make a sweeping reduction in fighting strength along the lines proposed by our government, then a full measure of security will be afforded to the powers through the elimination of any possible menace from one another, and an enduring peace established upon a solid basis."

Seek Short Route To Los Angeles

A new, more direct and speedier route to Los Angeles is the object of the new Airline Highway association recently organized at Hollister, reports the National Automobile club.

The route, as outlined, will divert from U. S. 101 at the Bolivar road, about 2.5 miles south of Gilroy, then go through Hollister, Tres Pinos, Palmdale, connecting with the King City-Tulare highway just east of the Mustang grade and continuing into Coalinga. From Coalinga its course is through Avenal, McKittrick to Taft and from Taft to a connection with U. S. 99 at the foot of the Grapevine grade.

The proposed route will give a total mileage from San Francisco to Los Angeles of 408 miles; however, after straightening curves, eliminating turns and bringing the route to standard highway construction, it is expected that the mileage will be reduced to about 375 miles.

PAST CHIEFS NAME LEADERS FOR YEAR

TUSTIN, Dec. 31.—Past chiefs of Tustin Pythian Sisters were entertained at a delightful party recently at the home of Mrs. Mollie Smith, D street, with Mesdames Smith, Edna Squires and Lottie Nordstrom as the hostess trio.

Mrs. Edith Matthews, outgoing president, presided at the business session, with annual election of officers. The main business transacted. Mrs. Ora Collar was chosen president and Mrs. Emma Shearme, secretary-treasurer.

A gift exchange and Christmas tree were enjoyable features of the social evening. Refreshments of turkey soup, cookies and coffee were served at small tables by the hostesses.

Those sharing the merry evening with Mesdames Smith, Squires and Nordstrom were Mesdames McCharles, Sarah May Matthews, Edith Matthews, Effie Matthews, Edna Squires, Lavena Penman, Lottie Nordstrom, Jessie Kiser, Hazel Harbour, Ora Collar, Edna Powers, Emma Coehens, Laura Sanborn and Miss Minnie Penman.

Party Held By Tustin Society

TUSTIN, Dec. 31.—Members of the Altruistic society shared their annual Christmas party Friday at the Knights of Pythias hall. The game of "cootie" was the afternoon's diversion, with prizes for high and second high scores being captured by Mrs. Clara Blackwell and Mrs. Hazel Harbour. A gift exchange was enjoyed.

Refreshments of a sponge cake with lemon sauce, salted nuts, candy and coffee were served at a long table by Mrs. Edith Matthews and Mrs. Carol Reynolds. Those present were Mesdames Emma Christensen, Harry Riehl, Ora Collar, Yvette Shelden and son, Thomas; Vera Comer, Clara Blackwell, Pearl Purtsch, Mabel Hannaford and daughter, Betty Lou; Effie Matthews, Florence McCharles, Sarah May Matthews, Lena Walker, Myrtle Flynn, Edna Walker, Bertha Trickey, Eva Holford, Hazel Harbour, Lottie Nordstrom, Edna Squires, Mollie Smith, Nora Jones, Grace Leinberger, Gladys Kidd, Hilda Riehl, Carrie Stearns, Edith Matthews, Carol Reynolds and the Misses Virginia Matthews and Thelma Trickey.

REAL ALIBI

MODESTO, Cal., Dec. 29.—A prize alibi was given by William J. O'Keefe of San Francisco when he was handed a ticket for speeding 40 miles an hour through the business district here. He told Traffic Officer George Dennison the fog was so thick he couldn't see the signs along the highway and didn't know he was inside the city limits.

HIROSI SAITO SAYS JAPANESE SEEKING PEACE

difficult work for each of the three great naval powers to do in its own country and its own proper sphere of the world without contemplating the possibility of war with either of the other powers and preparing for so remote an eventuality. Accord among them, therefore, ought to be attainable on a reasonable basis and happily there is plenty of time for an accord to be reached before our notification becomes effective two years hence.

Nothing to Fear

"But even if no accord can be reached I am not at all anxious over the consequences. The peoples concerned are all intelligent and their governments are rational. No one wishes to engage in a damaging naval building competition. There has never been a serious armed conflict between the United States and any of the far eastern nation, and, as your secretary or state and our foreign minister have agreed, there is no problem between the United States and Japan that cannot be settled by diplomatic means.

"Having no conflict of interest that is not overwhelmingly outweighed by our mutual benefit relations, there is no logical reason for us to compete in armaments. Therefore, as I see it, an end of suspicions and a development of accord is the part of wisdom as well as the duty of our nations.

"It is gratifying and heartening to note that the governments of this country and Japan are now endeavoring to stop jingoism in both countries from making irresponsible and inflammatory utterances. It is time for all of us to ponder the situation seriously. Bearing in mind the friendship and statesmanship which have successfully solved many questions between our two countries in the past, and the good sense and sportsmanship of the two peoples, I am always hopeful and optimistic."

No Injuries In Two S. A. Wrecks

No one was injured in either of two Santa Ana accidents reported yesterday at the police station.

Cars driven by Mrs. Greebe Dale, 819 South Broadway and George F. Clever, 221 Cypress street, collided at First and Broadway.

A truck driven by Goodman Butler, of North Long Beach collided with the machine of Mrs. Nell Linenger, 818 North Broadway, as she was turning into a driveway, it was reported.

MANY GROUPS USE COSTA MESA CHURCH

By BOB GUILD

COSTA MESA, Dec. 29.—A good example of how a church may be of service to the whole community is furnished by the Community Methodist church of Costa Mesa. The grammar schools use the church plant regularly for the kindergarten and music departments and several of the grades held their Christmas exercises in the social hall. The Woman's Relief Corps uses the social hall regularly for its meetings.

During the holiday season the following groups used some part of the church plant: Boy Scouts, Music section of the Friday Afternoon Club, Co-operative Association, the Japanese Association, the Mexican Methodist church, the Queen Esther society, Epworth league, and official board. One organization, Camp Fire Girls, could not be accommodated and two functions had to be scheduled for the social hall for the same evening. The Mexicans holding their Christmas program from 7 to 9 and the Epworth League holding a party later after singing carols around the community.

This church feels that it is called to serve the whole community as far as that is possible and consistent with its message and mission.

HIGHER WAGES NECESSARY TO RECOVERY, HELD

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Increase in production without a corresponding increase of wages is a highly precarious method of aiding economic recovery, Carl B. Ridram, of Brookings Institute, Washington, told the American economics association today.

The economists are in the last day of a joint session with 11 other statistical and sociological groups.

Ridram discussed 14 phases of comparative values of currency and other monetary standards.

"The depreciation of currency is also a highly undesirable procedure," he said, "which results in a collapse of the price system."

He termed the recovery program as "one that is transitory" and meant to assist "self-healing" forces. The unemployment relief program is of a permanent nature and has no bearing on recovery, he said.

The crucial task facing the recovery program is stimulating the activity of capital industries, he declared.

Prof. Roy G. Blakey, University of Michigan, questioned whether the sales tax might not be one which is being "foisted" upon the people by "interested and aggressive minorities."

"It is fairly well accepted that the tendency of general sales taxes is to bear unduly heavily upon individuals with small incomes," he said.

PLANS LONG TRIP VIA STRATOSPHERE

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Dec. 29.

—(UP)—Roy O. Hunt, speed pilot, announced today that he would attempt a dash through the stratosphere from Los Angeles to New York in February.

Hunt said he would fly at 25,000 to 35,000 feet in a specially equipped plane provided by F. C. Hall, backer of Wiley Post's flights around the world.

The flyer hopes to set a new transcontinental speed record and a new mark for prolonged high altitude flight.

The plane, named "Sheridan" for Sheridan Fain, Hall's granddaughter, is a low-wing Lockheed Orion cabin monoplane with a single supercharged vasp motor.

Hunt will fly in a rubber enclosed cabin to eliminate necessity of a specially constructed flying suit.

YOUNG SLAYER CERTIFIED TO JUVENILE COURT

Certified to the juvenile court today in Huntington Beach, young Ivan Apple, 17, self-confessed slayer of his brother Roscoe on Wednesday, will spend the week-end wondering what the next step will be in the peculiar tragedy which has befallen him and his family.

Ivan shot and killed his brother at their home at 2307 Florida street in Huntington Beach after the rest of the family had motored to Ventura. A violent quarrel had precipitated the shooting, Ivan said. He gave himself up to police and was arraigned yesterday on murder charges.

Today, District Attorney S. B. Kaufman recommended that the youth, who was 17 years old on October 12, be certified to the juvenile court. Judge Charles Patton in the Huntington Beach city court granted the motion and appointed Attorney George Busch of Sunset Beach to represent the youth.

It is possible that the juvenile court, after considering the case, will find it justifiable to remand Ivan back to the regular courts for prosecution. Judge G. K. Scovel, head of the juvenile court, will take action early next week, it was learned.

Funeral services for the slain youth, who was three years older than Ivan, were held this afternoon from the Dixon mortuary in Huntington Beach, with interment following in the Westminster Memorial park. Roscoe is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Apple; two brothers, Ivan and Edgar, and two sisters, Grace, of the home, and Mrs. O. L. Robinson of Ventura.

Father met son at the inquest in Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon but there was no word exchanged between them and Ivan shunned the sympathy of his family. Sitting with bowed head in the front of the Dixon chapel, Ivan stared glumly at the floor while his father and sister sat several rows to the rear with other relatives.

Ivan was whisked back to the county jail by officers after the jury returned the verdict which blamed him for the murder. The verdict stated that Roscoe Apple had come to his death from gunshot wounds in the right lower chest from a .20 gauge shot gun in the hands of his brother, Ivan Apple, in the dining room of their home with homicidal intent.

Ivan did not take the stand in his own defense when given the opportunity by Coroner Earl Abbey. His father, however, who was the identification witness, gave an insight of the quarrel of the two youths when he was questioned by Abbey regarding the temperaments of his two sons.

"I knew that Ivan had a quick temper but he did not show it until the last few weeks. Roscoe was extremely hot tempered, but I did not realize that their hatred had reached so dangerous a point," the father stated in a muffled voice. "We knew they did not get along so good but everything seemed all right when we left for Ventura."

Ivan evinced considerable interest when Dr. J. J. Montanus, county autopsy surgeon, gave technical evidence concerning the gunshot wounds. He attributed the cause of death to hemorrhage and shock from the gunshot wounds.

Police Chief George Gelzer, the first to find the body of Roscoe, told of locating the gun and finding that both barrels had been fired. The shells were thrown away by Ivan and he will not reveal where they are, Gelzer said. Gelzer quoted Ivan as saying that the body had been pushed under a bed so that neighbors would not find anything amiss if they inquired about the shooting.

Gelzer said that Ivan had wanted no theory of self-defense and said he intended to kill his brother.

J. H. Manning, 3324 Florida street, a neighbor of the Apple's, said he was working in his front yard and heard a shot from the inside of the Apple home but did not investigate.

Ivan's father gave no indication of what the family would do regarding Ivan. Bewildered and grief over the sudden tragedy that brought death to one son and estrangement from the other was pictured on his face and he virtually collapsed from the strain of the ordeal after he was led from the mortuary.

Ivan maintained his stoical demeanor but gave a slight evidence of his inner feelings when he told a reporter that "he was not a bit sorry" for himself but only for "folks" and "I don't care what they do with me."

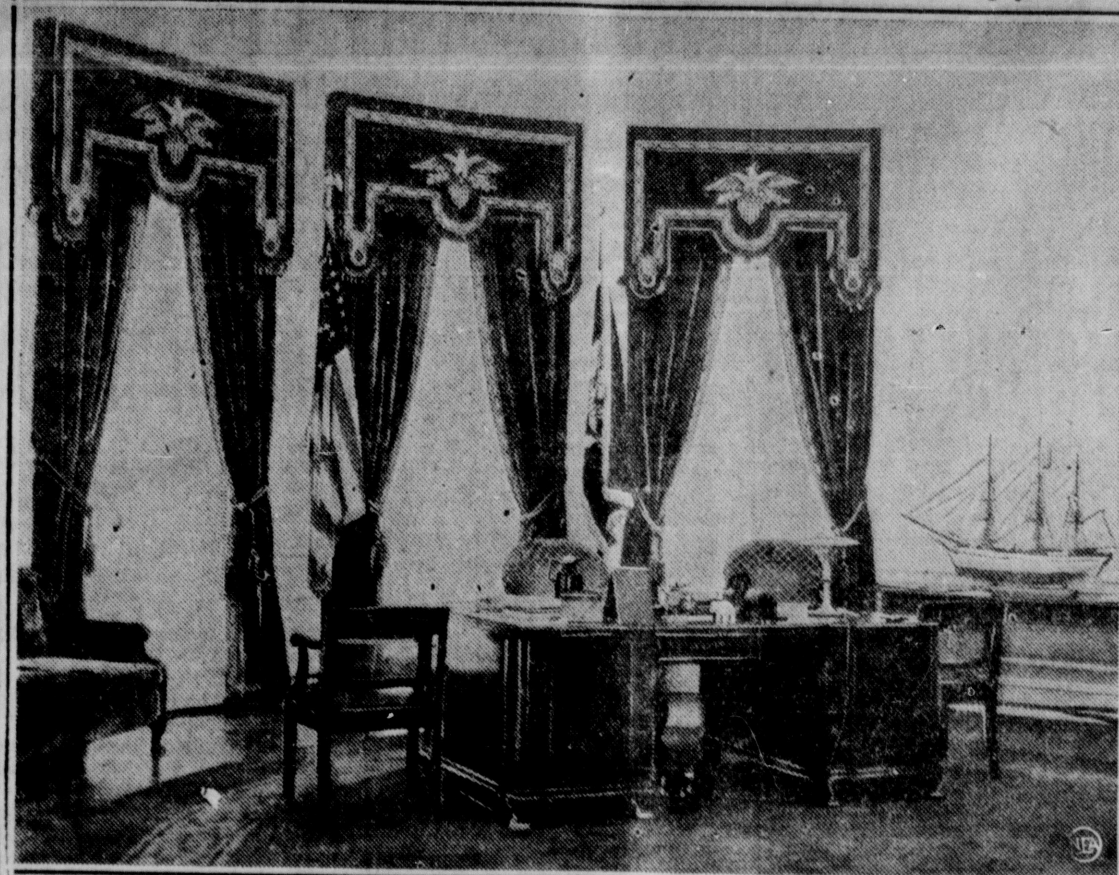

The boy is not represented by an attorney and was accompanied to the mortuary by two officers and District Attorney S. B. Kaufman. He remained in the Huntington Beach jail following his arraignment yesterday morning.

Members of the jury who rendered the verdict were A. S. Jamison, W. T. Hunter, H. A. Wood, G. W. Rowley, C. W. King, W. T. Watson, J. Sherman Dennis and W. H. Stanton.

CHILDREN HUNT MOTHER

TURLOCK, Cal. Dec. 29.—The usual procedure of a mother looking after her children was reversed here. MAKE REQUEST FOR FLOWERS FOR FLOAT

A request for donation of flowers from citizens of Santa Ana to be used in decorating the entry from this city in the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade on New Year's day was voiced today by Mrs. Roy Beall, chairman of the committee in charge of decorating the float.

Flowers needed are poinsettias, fire pokers, orange and yellow chrysanthemums, callulias and French marigolds. Hazel Nell Bemus, art teacher at the Santa Ana high school, is in charge of the decorating.

Persons who will donate flowers for the float were advised by Mrs. Beall that they will be picked up Monday by firemen from the nearest fire station on request.

PARTY OBSERVES 18TH ANNIVERSARY

TUSTIN, Dec. 29.—The 18th birthday anniversary of Ralph Kidd was the occasion for a merry surprise party given by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Kidd, at their home at 105 Mountain View drive, Friday evening. Baskets of refreshments and a glittering Christmas tree were among the appointments used to carry out a red and green color theme.

"Cootie" was played, with prizes for high and low scores going to Miss Blanche Steed and Franklin McMichael. Other games were also played and many useful birthday gifts were presented to Ralph by his young friends.

Mrs. Kidd, assisted by her aunt, Mrs. Jessie Parker, of Des Moines, Ia., served refreshments of date salad, hot chocolate and a beautiful birthday cake, topped with 18 green candles and decorated with a frosting of poinsettias.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Kidd and their houseguest, Mrs. Jessie Parker, were the Misses Lorene Krahnik, Anna Sutherland, Audrey Pieper, Winnie Rickman; and Messrs. Franklin McMichael, Glen Diamond, John Haskell, Earl and Ralph Kidd, of Tustin, and Miss Blanche Steed, of Santa Ana.

MRS. ADDIE KIRBY DIES AT HER HOME

Mrs. Addie Kirby, of 1029 North Flower street, died at her home yesterday following a lingering illness. She was the widow of Oliver P. Kirby, who died here about two and a half years ago.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Stokely of Santa Ana, and Mrs. Carrie McLaughlin, of Colorado Springs, Colo., and two brothers, T. W. Todd, of Palo Alto, and the Rev. Henry A. Todd, of Wheaton, Ill.

Funeral services will be held at a date to be announced later by the Harrell and Brown Funeral home.

Townsend Clubs Ask Contributions For Lobbying Fund

An appeal to the public for funds to further the cause of the Townsend Old Age Revolving Pension plan was made today by A. G. Diehl, president of Townsend club number one here, who asked those interested to find out who is the president of the club covering their section of the city and to make a donation.

Funds obtained through donation will be used to help pay the expenses of maintaining a board of strategy in Washington, D.C., during the opening months of congress, Diehl said. The board members are to serve without pay and the request for funds has been made from national headquarters in Los Angeles, he explained.

Insull Gets Best Gift—Freedom

The most appreciated Christmas gift that Martin Insull could receive came to him in a Chicago court, when he was acquitted on a $344,720 embezzlement charge after a bitter jury argument. Insull is shown here leaving the courtroom as the crowd showered congratulations on him.

New System Of Phone Numbers Is Adopted Here

Santa Ana telephone users who chance to find a zero on the front of a telephone number in the future should not spend undue time worrying about the matter.

A query at the Southern California Telephone company reveals that no more three-digit numbers are being assigned to subscribers. Instead, whenever it is necessary to change or install a new three-digit number, the zero is added to the front of the number combination.

The only change involves the designating party lines with letters is followed out. No present numbers will be changed.

Telephone officials reported that the switchboard operator is better able to hear a four-digit number because the subscriber will talk slower and is not so likely to blur the first number. On this theory, a general change is being made in the system to standardize numbers into four-digit combinations.

Court Notes

Numa Marlborough, charged with contributing to the delinquency of two young girls who also figured recently in charges against Marvin W. (Doc) Schouwer, of Long Beach, gambling ship owner, withdrew a plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty late yesterday before Superior Judge James L. Allen. He applied for probation and will receive a hearing January 11. A Santa Ana girl, 15, and an Anaheim girl, 17, are involved in the case.

Probation for two years, with a $100 fine attached, was granted to Eddie I. Welch late yesterday by Superior Judge James L. Allen, in connection with a charge of drunk driving. The fine must be paid at the rate of $5 per month, it was ordered. Welch was arrested December 11 on First street near Artesia street, Santa Ana.

Pleading guilty to grand theft of an automobile belonging to Vendia Olson, James Hanby and E. I. Henderson applied to Superior Judge James L. Allen for probation when arraigned late yesterday. His hearing was set for January 11. The car was stolen December 20.

Cruelty was charged today in a superior court suit for divorce filed by Lucille Knight against James Knight, whom she wed at Yuma July 21, 1930. They separated December 22, this year.

PICK THOMPSON FOR SELECTION AS POSTMASTER

Frank Thompson is expected to be the new postmaster at Orange following action of the Orange County Democratic Central committee last night, in recommending his appointment out of a field of three active candidates. Action was taken following requests of patronage givers for a recommendation from the committee for their guidance.

Thompson was given the choice, when after a first ballot in which he was tied with Joe Peterson, support swung to him from those who had been backing V. D. Johnson.

The first ballot at the meeting which was held in Judge J. G. Mitchell's offices here, gave nine votes each to Thompson and Johnson, with four going to Peterson. Johnson then withdrew and three of his votes swung to Thompson with one going to Peterson, who was the party's candidate for assembly at the last election. The final vote was Thompson 12, Peterson, 10.

Thompson has a long record of Democratic party service and has been an active worker for many years, having been a member of the Democratic state convention at Phoenix, Arizona, as long ago as 1922, when he was 21 years of age. When President Woodrow Wilson took office in 1913, Thompson was the twelfth postmaster he appointed, taking the post as postmaster at Garden Grove on April 1, that year. He held the office nine years.

Thompson came to California in 1882 from Ohio. He lived at Orange before moving to Arizona where, upon attaining his majority, he identified himself with the Democratic party. Returning to California some years later, he located at Garden Grove. After completing his service as postmaster there he returned to Arizona in 1923 and resided there until 1927. In 1924 he had charge of Senator McCauley's presidential nomination campaign for Maricopa county.

In 1927 he removed to Orange and has since resided there. Two years ago he had charge of Roosevelt headquarters during the presidential campaign.

The Orange postoffice is at present in charge of Mrs. Vera Wetlin, under temporary appointment following completion of the term of W. O. Hart.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO GO TO ROSE PARADE

For the tenth consecutive year the Santa Fe railroad will run a special train from Santa Ana to the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade.

According to Claude D. Lindsey, local agent for the Santa Fe, the train will leave Santa Ana at 7:30 o'clock in the morning and deliver the passengers on the line of march. Returning, the train will arrive in Santa Ana at 2:50 o'clock in the afternoon.

Those desiring to stay over to the Stanford-Alabama Rose Bowl game will be returned by a special train leaving Pasadena at 5:40 o'clock.

HARRY CRICKLER SUCCEUMBS FRIDAY

Harry Crickler, 66, resident of this city for the past 14 years, died at an Orange hospital yesterday following an illness of seven months duration. His residence here was at 1530 West Third street. Born in Glasgow, N. J., he was a tool maker by trade.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lida Crickler, and one sister, Mrs. Emma Condon of Philadelphia, Pa.

Funeral services will be held from the Harrell and Brown Funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, Monday at 10:30 a. m.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES AT ORANGE LOOMS

Indications of an incipient epidemic of measles at Orange, with one case reported late yesterday and six more reported this morning, all through the same physician, led county health officials to issue a warning to Orange parents today, regarding isolation of children.

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, urged all parents to watch for first symptoms of the disease and if these are found, to isolate their child at least six days.

All of the cases reported were among pupils in the first grade and kindergarten of Kilfer school, Orange, said Dr. Sutherland. School is not in session at present, and steps are being taken to prevent a spread of the epidemic when school opens next week after the Christmas vacation.

The first symptoms of measles, Dr. Sutherland advised, appear in the form of a severe cold, with nasal discharge and watery eyes, and usually some temperature; also a hard, brassy cough. This stage, he said, usually lasts about four days, but may continue five or six days before the rash appears, and is contagious during that period, before the rash does appear. For that reason, he said, parents are urged to isolate their children if such symptoms are noted, for at least six days, unless the symptoms disappear meanwhile.

ATTORNEY'S FATHER CALLED BY DEATH

S. L. Blodget, 77, who was the first cashier of the old First National bank of Huntington Beach and father of L. W. Blodget, well known local attorney, died at his home, 1400 St. Andrews Place, Los Angeles, last night. Death came suddenly.

Mr. Blodget was a pioneer Californian, coming to Bakersfield in 1884 where he lived until he came to Orange county and became cashier of the Huntington Beach bank in 1906. He lived in the beach city until 1919. He was prominent in Masonic circles throughout the county during his life here.

Besides his son here, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Blodget; four other sons, Claude R. Blodget of Bakersfield, Rush M. Blodget of La Canada and Los Angeles, P. L. Blodget of Beverly Hills; a daughter, Mrs. Marian B. Ramsey of Venice, Calif.; 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon from the Pierce Brothers Funeral home in Los Angeles.

-- News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

BUZZ

The labor bees are buzzing again, and it looks as if someone may get stung this time.

King Bess Green of the A. F. of L. privately called a few days ago for a meeting of the executive committee in the hive here January 29. The news about it may be cut by the time you read this, but for several days it was announced, possibly because there was such an inside stir about it.

One swarm wanted to go to Miami, where the surroundings include bathing beauty, revenue and other relaxations for tired labor leaders. The predominant swarm decided that while Washington offers distracting New Deal influences, it was probably a better spot to consider the serious business at hand.

The serious business will include the 30-hour week, Section 7-A, the labor board and a lot of other things, but the most serious business of all will not be on the agenda.

It will be the thought back in the minds of the leaders that they may face three major strikes within the next six months—textiles, automobiles and steel.

One major labor official, not Green, is now privately predicting that all three strikes will materialize. Of course, labor leaders sometimes predict strikes for whatever bargaining advantage such a threat may bring, but anyone can see that the situation is so serious as to demand energetic attention.

TEAMING

What stirred up the labor hive lately was the inside report that the three large industries (textiles, automobiles and steel) have some sort of unofficial working agreement on labor policy. It is supposed to call for joint action in event of trouble.

Whether this report is true cannot now be stated. Automobiles and steel have frequently worked together on many things back-stage. They are naturally associated in production. How textiles got into that crowd is not clear. However, the only point now is that labor leaders are accrediting the report and making preparations accordingly.

The subject may not be mentioned out loud at the council meeting, because the gathering was called merely to formulate a legislative policy for the coming session of congress. The council was formerly limited to twelve old guard leaders, but the last A. F. of L. convention increased the membership to eighteen and let a lot of young guards in. That means it will be lively.

BEWILDERED

The White Shirts cannot yet understand what happened to their White Sulphur business conference report when submitted to the White House.

They knew the published stories were wrong about their emissary being snubbed by the President. It was their mistake, due to the fact that the business emissary went to the White House without an appointment and found President Roosevelt's schedule full for the day. The White House asked him if it could arrange an appointment for the next day, but he had to be in New York that day, so he left the business platform.

That was understandable, but it does not explain why Mr. Roosevelt let the platform remain in a pile of papers for several days without looking at it.

Even more perplexing is the fact that a certain gentleman at the White Sulphur Springs conference was supposed to be an indirect representative of the President. He did not directly say so, but he talked and acted like it, and they accepted him as such. He counseled moderation in the platform and they followed his advice.

In view of what has happened since, they are beginning to wonder whether they were outwitted.

FUN

Wait until Uncle George Holden Tinkham hears about Secretary Hull. Congressman Tinkham was excited in a statement a few days ago because Secretary Perkins has cooperated with the League of Nations in labor matters. He does not know it yet, but Mr. Hull has gone a step further and sent Brain Trust Prof. James Harvey Rogers to Geneva to confer with other world economists under the auspices of the League.

Mr. Hull's perfect alibi is that Prof. Rogers was appointed by the League as the American member of the economic committee. At two earlier meetings, the U. S. was represented by Prof. Viner and Prof. Thorpe, brain trusters both.

It may be true that the New Deal had little to do with the Rogers appointment. He has not been active in New Deal service lately.

Following his return from the silver survey in China, he was not invited to the White House for presentation of his report, although friends saw him waiting at the telephone for the call that never came.

RESPECT

Senator Glass is still chuckling about the labor and indirect explanation offered by the Federal Reserve Board. He did not miss the point that the board issued its explanation without referring to his charges and privately he fully appreciated the compliment. But if Glass had seen the direct reply written and torn up by Chairman Rooden on Christmas eve, there would have been real fireworks here for Christmas.

FRANKFURTER

Just because you never hear of Felix Frankfurter any more, DOES NOT mean that the father of the brain trust has vanished from the New Deal scene. The fact is he has become the invisible man of the New Deal. He has flitted in and out of the White House at least twice and probably much oftener during the last few weeks. Presumably he is leading aid in preparation of the message to congress.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

The vendetta which a group of prominent educators have declared against William Randolph Hearst will be no sham battle. Leaders of the teaching profession are generally stirred by the implications of the vigorous campaign which the Hearst papers are about to launch against the "red menace." They regard it as a thinly-veiled attempt to bring about the suppression of all liberal thought in American schools and colleges—and they don't intend to take it lying down.

The Progressive Educational Association—with a membership of 7000 teachers—is slated to carry the banner in the counter-attack. The National Educational Association—with 250,000 members—hasn't taken a position yet but the informed predict it will join the fight within a few weeks.

Here's an incident which indicates that Hearst is in a hurry to get action. The come-on letter written to Professor George Counts of Teachers' College by a Hearst reporter in the guise of a prospective student was spotted at once. Professor Counts replied that he was too busy to talk to the inquirer now but would be glad to do so after New Year.

Apparently the delay didn't fit with Hearst's plans—because the reporter showed up anyway and readily admitted authorship of the letter. Forewarned by what happened at Syracuse—where the educators involved charge deliberate misquotation—the Teachers' College people had stenographers on the job.

A New Yorker involved in the controversy expresses the teachers' viewpoint this way: "This talk about red propaganda in the universities is 99 per cent bunk. Hearst just wants an excuse to put us all on leash. We feel that free speech is worth fighting for. He may think he's gunning for rabbits but he's likely to find they are wildcats instead."

BANKS

Insiders understand a complete legislative program for revamping the Federal Reserve System has been framed for early presentation to Congress. The idea is to ram it through before the central bank advocates have a chance to get organized. As forecast here, the changes will centralize control of the system in the Reserve Board at Washington.

Apart from being given full authority over the open market operations of the regional banks the Board will be empowered to broaden the classes of collateral eligible for rediscount at the Reserve banks—which are at present rigidly limited by law. Liberal use of this power would undoubtedly speed up credit expansion.

Senator Glass's blast at Professor Viner's "embryonic Solons" forebodes active resistance on his part to changes in the Federal Reserve Act—and probably also to the confirmation of Marriner Eccles as Federal Reserve Governor. New York conservatives agree warmly with the Senator but they have no illusions that he can play Horatius at the bridge successfully. And they much prefer tighter government control of the present system to the central bank alternative.

TECHNIQUE

Consolidated Gas hasn't lost all its friends. Some phases of La Guardia's municipal power plan must come before the state legislature—and are likely to run hard against the Tammany reef. It's doubtful whether the combined influence of FDR and Governor Lehman can prevail over Tammany's affection for long standing. If it can't there's little chance of selling city power to private consumers.

Meanwhile Commissioner Davidson's assault on the holding company as the cause of high rates indicates a cooperative technique between federal and city administrations. It fits neatly into the double objective of forcing lower charges and busting up the holding company pyramids.

The bankers may have their wrangles with the New York City Fusion administration but their actions indicate appreciation of important factors in city credit. Last summer all the local banks had to combine to put over a $72,000,000 bond issue and even so there were cracks and groans. On the recent $42,000,000 offerings two rival banking syndicates bid for the whole thing and there were several other bids for parts of the issue. Perhaps the most significant sign of approval is the revived appetite of insurance companies and other investing institutions for the city's securities.

One reason for the zest is the fact that taxpayers are laying it on the line more promptly. Collections are running to about 74 per cent of the total amount due as against about 6 per cent a year ago. This in turn indicates that property owners are beginning to be aware of recovery.

UP

The trend of high-grade real estate bonds is another indication that the real estate situation is looking up. An average based on 200 such bonds has risen 22.4 per cent since the end of 1933 and 51.2 per cent since the end of '32. During the same periods the Dow Jones average of 40 bonds advanced only 11.1 per cent and 28.9 per cent respectively.

CONFUSED

This story is a favorite with New York anti-New Dealers to illustrate the confusion in Washington.

Two gentlemen were driving home after a highly convivial evening at the club. Their car swerved madly from side to side, narrowly missing other cars, trees and telegraph poles. Finally one of them became a trifle nervous, patted the other on the arm and said: "Listen, of man, I don't wanna be critical or anything like that, but won't you please be a little careful where you're driving?"

At which the other looked at his companion in surprise and replied: "Me? Why, I thought you were driving!"

SIDELIGHTS

World motor fuel consumption will probably reach an all-time peak this year.... U. S. consumption is about 2 per cent under 1931 but other countries are using about 10 per cent more than they did then.... Authorities estimate that the railroads will need about $200,000,000 more from the RFC in the first half of 1935.

WOULD CREATE ANOTHER POST OF CONSTABLE

ANAHEIM, Dec. 29.—Petitions urging creation of an additional office of constable in Anaheim township are being circulated here and in the township today. In addition to asking for an additional constable the petition urges appointment of Sam L. Snodgrass to the post.

The petition which will be presented to the board of supervisors as soon as a sufficient number of signatures is secured, urges creation of the office of additional constable under provisions of Section 4614, Political Code of California.

Proponents of the plan are pointing out that Anaheim township has increased in population to the point where a second constable is needed. Should the petition be granted by the supervisors Anaheim would be the second township in the county served by two constables. For many years Santa Ana township has had two officers.

Ed Marion, the present constable in Anaheim township, has served in that office for approximately 20 years and was recently re-elected by a 10-vote majority following a court contest of the vote. Snodgrass also was a candidate for the post and at the unofficial count of the vote was defeated by two ballots. Snodgrass contested the election with the result that a court count gave Marion the 10-vote lead.

COUNCIL AWARDS GARBAGE CONTRACT

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—John A. Burnett, who has been collecting garbage and rubbish in the city for many years, was again awarded the contract at a special meeting of the city council this week. Burnett's bid for the work was $425 a month.

Continuing their policy outlined at a former meeting, the councilmen meeting in special session asked for additional funds for the widening and straightening of Brea road from North Spadra road. This was done after City Engineer Herman Hiltcher explained he understood that additional funds are available, and that if additional funds are received, extra SERRA labor can be obtained. The council authorized the request for $6000 additional to the $12,000 already granted from the state gas tax funds for the work.

OPENING OF SCHOOL IS SET FOR JAN. 7

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—Because the work on the Maple avenue school, that of tearing down a second floor, will not be completed until January 7, the opening of the Fullerton Grammar school has been postponed until that date.

In addition to the tearing down of the second story from Maple school, 13 tents have been built at the Junior high site to accommodate the students at the Wilshire building, since that building has been declared unsafe for occupancy.

HOLD FAREWELL RECEPTION FOR PASTOR, FAMILY

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—A surprise reception honoring the Rev. Seth Rehkop, pastor of the Church of Christ, on the occasion of his birthday anniversary, was combined with a farewell reception for him and his family when a group of friends gathered in the annex of the Erie hotel last night. Guests were from Ontario, Whittier, Long Beach as well as Fullerton.

The Rev. Mr. Rehkop has accepted the pastorate of the Sacramento Church of Christ, after having served members of the Fullerton congregation more than two years, and plans to leave with his family Sunday night.

During his stay in Fullerton, 99 have been added to the church. The pastor and Mrs. Rehkop and their sons, Elmo, a Fullerton Union High school junior, and Elwood, were given parting gifts at the reception.

The evening was spent at games and an entertainment that included a mock wedding was enjoyed. Winners of prizes at contests were Pat Ledbetter, Mrs. Willowford, Mrs. Jack Wood and those who gave short talks were the Rev. Mr. Rehkop, Eldridge Lynn, of Ontario and J. E. Nelson of San Pedro.

Attending were Vernie Belcher, Ray Powell, Ray Hunt, George Powell, Nettie Ledbetter, Irene Lucas, William Lucas, Wilma Wilford, Jane Sharp, Ruth Moreland, Jack McAnear, Cleave Cloer, Calvin McAnear, Dorothy Clark, Aurelia O'Neal, Archiva O'Neal, Belle Nelson, M. Neal, Carrie Crosby, Mr. and Mrs. Buford Belcher, Belle Nelson, Clara Wilson and Bertie Wilford, the Rev. and Mrs. Rehkop and their two sons.

WORK ON HIGH SCHOOL PLANT TO START SOON

ANAHEIM, Dec. 29.—Excavation for the foundation of the new unit at the Anaheim Union High school is scheduled to start within a few days, according to Principal J. A. Claves. A skeleton crew of SERRA workers already has been busy for several days preparing for the start of the work.

Claves said that there is nothing in the way of starting excavation for the foundations as he has received notice of approval of the foundation plans from the office of the state architect. The letter of approval was sent to T. C. Kistner, architect in charge of the building and from there was sent to Claves.

Included in the work for which authority to proceed was given is: Excavation for footings; construction of forms and placing of reinforcement for the footings; foundation walls and first floor slab; pouring of concrete in footings; foundation walls and first floor slab; and placing of wooden sheathing joist girder and post construction of the first floor.

The approval of plans for the foundation is in accord with assurances given Claves sometime ago that the foundation plans would be approved as soon as possible. This was done to allow the use of SERRA labor on the job.

CHURCH ARRANGES SPECIAL SERVICE

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—A special New Year candlelight service is being arranged for the Fullerton Presbyterian church for Sunday night, according to the Rev. Graham C. Hunter, pastor, who announced new members will be taken in at that time.

Musical numbers are to be brought by a special young people's choir, and Mrs. Dorothy Horner and Miss Marjorie Brown will bring a vocal duet.

A special service has been arranged for Sunday morning, with the choir, directed by Benjamin Edwards, bringing three special numbers, "Today There Is Ringing" and "O Come, Let Us Worship Him" and "Pax Dei." The pastor will bring a special New Year sermon at the morning hour.

ANAHEIM KIWANIS AND LIONS GATHER

ANAHEIM, Dec. 29.—Modern lighting was discussed yesterday at the joint meeting of Anaheim Kiwanis and Lions. The speaker for the day was F. W. Loomis of the Luminous Structures company. He used stereopticon slides to illustrate his theme that modern lighting is a phase of architecture and engineering rather than just a "sign stuck on a building."

Loomis was brought before the two clubs by the Southern California Edison company and was accompanied by Howard W. Hays, assistant advertising manager for the company. In his talk Loomis said that more and more architects and engineers are considering lighting as a part of their plans and not an accessory coming after the building has been laid out or built. He concluded his talk with pictures and a word description of the artist's conception of the lighted city of the future.

The meeting was presided over by the heads of both service clubs, J. A. Claves and Victory Loly in place of Dr. George A. Paige. The musical program was provided by Reginald Taylor, Miss Hazel Filer Kuenzli and Miss Katherine Stewart.

NEW OFFICERS SELECTED FOR CHURCH OF GOD

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—Steps were taken at the annual meeting of the membership of the Church of God Friday night to purchase ground for the building of a tabernacle, or to rent a suitable building for church services. The step was taken when it became evident that the growth of the congregation warranted moving to larger quarters than those at 111 East Commonwealth avenue, according to the Rev. Frank Roubal, pastor.

In addition to planning for new quarters, the pastor announced that Howard Green, of Anaheim, will assist with the musical program of the church by giving lessons at the church each Wednesday evening. New officers were elected and installed. They are William E. Morrison, of Brea, elected for a three-year term as deacon; Ralph Eby, of Anaheim, elected for a two-year term, and Elmer Bell, of Fullerton, elected for a one-year term; John F. Hayes, of Fullerton, secretary-treasurer; Edward Boniface, of Fullerton, Sunday school, superintendent; Irene Roubal, assistant superintendent; William C. Ficus, of Fullerton, treasurer of the Sunday school.

Anaheim Police Notes

ANAHEIM, Dec. 29.—Dan Grimes, Delbert Lamb and James Davis were given 30-day jail sentences this morning by Police Judge Frank Tausch. The jail terms were suspended when the trio agreed to leave Anaheim.

The three men were arrested last night when police were notified that they were creating a disturbance in the 500 block on West Center street. Grimes and Lamb pleaded guilty to drunk charges and Davis pleaded guilty as a vagrant.

CLASS MEETS JAN. 3

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—The Truth Seekers' class of the Methodist church will meet January 3 at the church, according to announcement made today.

Royal Neighbors' Club Holds Watch Party On Monday

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—Members of the Friendly club of the Royal Neighbors' lodge, with their families, are to hold a New Year's watch party at the home of Mrs. Eunice Manuel on the Stearns lease near Brea Monday night. Those desiring transportation or wishing to be guided to the place of meeting are to meet at the Leo Fullerton home, 432 East Amerigo, Monday at 7:30 o'clock.

Each member is to bring buns, weiners and doughnuts for the group she is bringing. Coffee is to be served.

ANAHEIM C. C. REJECTS STATE INCOME TAXES

ANAHEIM, Dec. 29.—Directors of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce, meeting Thursday, refused to give their support to the proposed state income tax. The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce had requested the local body to support the proposal. The local body adopted a resolution opposing the tax.

The directors also decided to hold the annual dinner of the boost organization during the week of January 14. This dinner originally was scheduled for last month but was postponed. The dinner will be held at the Elks' club with Dr. Frederic Woellner of U. C. L. A. as the speaker. Definite setting of the date depends upon the speaker.

Discussion of the proposed work on Manchester boulevard followed a report by Secretary George Reid that bids for the job would be let January 10. The road committee of the chamber, consisting of Joe Collings, E. J. Hagood and Harry Pearson was instructed to recommend repaving and widening Olive road, extending it either to Broadway or Center street and building a new wide bridge over the river on that road as a part of the secondary highway system. The straightening and paving of Carbon Canyon road also will be urged.

PASTOR TELLS ADVANTAGES OF PENSION PLAN

FULLERTON, Dec. 29.—The great purpose of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan is to circulate money, that needs of humanity may be purchased, thereby setting the wheels of industry to operating that idle men may be employed, according to the Rev. David McKinley Sayers of La Habra, who last night talked to 125 members and guests of the Fullerton Townsend club at the Baptist church. The meeting opened with a dinner served in the basement of the church.

The speaker, who was introduced by Mrs. Ruth Holcroft, in charge of the Townsend club work in Fullerton, told of the unwise planning that preceded the 1929 financial crash, of the building up of factories, of mines, of farming industries beyond needs of the people, and of the subsequent crash that is "ruining the country."

He deplored in his discussion that depression is causing so much grief through imposing fear of the future on people, and urged the people to accept the challenge of the New Deal, and consider that the people are the government and may have what they demand.

He was followed in his discussion by another guest, Roy J. Webb of Riverside, who drew attention to the estimate that as many as three million Townsend club members are meeting every night throughout the United States, and that that fact alone is encouraging for proceeding with passing of the legislation on the pension.

Mrs. Holcroft also introduced Mack Hoffman, who recited a poem, and Ralph Holmes who, with Mrs. F. E. Moll accompanying at the piano, played a violin solo. The Rev. Francis E. Hawes of the Baptist church opened the meeting with the invocation.

FINAL DATE ON REQUESTS FOR BONUS MONDAY

Warning all veterans, their widows and orphans that the time is short now for filing application for the original bonus certificates, Harry D. Edwards, county veteran welfare officer, today called attention to the fact that it will be too late to get the bonus if applications are not in his office in the courthouse annex before 5 p. m. Monday.

Applications are coming in fast, Edwards said, but he wants to be sure that everyone in Orange county who is entitled to the bonus gets it.

Dependents of veterans, orphans or widows, should make application at once or it will be too late, Edwards pointed out. Many widows and orphans, he said, are not aware of the fact that they are entitled to one dollar a day for the war-time service of their husbands or fathers.

Not only are widows and orphans entitled to the bonus money, but if there are no widows or orphans of a veteran, then the parents of the veteran are entitled to the bonus, the welfare officer declared.

Edwards urged strongly that those who are entitled to the bonus make application without delay before it is too late to get the money.

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 29.—(U.P.)—State officials and others connected with capitol activities have a tendency to take their holiday celebrations seriously this winter, before settling down to the grind of a legislative session that may extend into the summer.

With more serious problems than usual confronting the legislature, there were indications that the session would be long and strenuous.

Inauguration ceremonies and session-opening exercises will occupy attention the first two days—January 7 and 8—then the legislature will go to work. Introduction of bills will form the main activity during January, unless Governor Merriam instructs the lawmakers to act immediately on emergency measures. The legislature will adjourn for the month of February, supposedly to permit assemblymen and senators to go home and study the bills. The real show will start in March.

Fear of a special election has subsided because somebody discovered it probably was possible for the legislature to call an election and specify what should appear on the ballot. In such a case, the danger of a single tax initiative with a sales tax repeal provision landing on the ballot would fade.

As a result of this discovery, a special election early in the spring appeared almost inevitable. The legislature must raise many millions from new revenue sources, and the financial situation would be aided greatly if utility taxes were retained for the next two years.

Under terms of the Riley-Stewart tax measure, utility property will return to county tax rolls next year and the state will lose $60,000,000 which must be made up elsewhere. A vote of the people would be necessary to delay this return.

The main argument in favor of keeping utility taxes for the state probably will read something like this: "Vote yes and escape the ad valorem tax; make the utilities continue to share in supporting the state government."

Retention of utility taxes would not be a guarantee against an ad valorem tax, however. The state needs so much new revenue to balance its budget that an ad valorem may still be necessary, unless the legislature takes full advantage of other tax possibilities.

Controller Ray L. Riley does not feel that an ad valorem would work a hardship, provided utility taxes reverted to the counties. Revenue to the counties would increase so much that ordinary property owners would be aided. For example, say a county has 60,000 property owners who pay $50,000 annually in taxes. If utility property in the county paid $1,000,000 in taxes, other property owners could be benefited by a reduction of one-fifth in the tax rate.

Or, looking at it from another angle, if utility property returned an estimated $70,000,000 to the counties each year, and the ad valorem raised $45,000,000 for the state, smaller property owners would, theoretically, gain $4,000,000, since counties now are not benefited by utility property taxes.

"It will be possible to balance the budget," said Finance Director A. E. Stockburger after studying possible revenue sources. Which indicated again that Merriam's budgetary plans will include recommendations for new taxes in sufficient quantity to raise $100,000,000 or more. It will be up to the legislature to decide what to do.

Tax experts have pointed out sources which would provide $227,000,000, but the state does not need that much.

There is little likelihood that the administration finance plans will include a recommendation to retire the present $31,000,000 deficit as well as meeting current expenses for the next two years. The deficit accumulated during the past four years, and some of the Merriam people do not believe the public

In Fight for Top Turf Honors

Only five winners separated Apprentice Maurice Peters, above, and Jockey Silvio Coucel in the race for riding honors of 1934 at the close of the Bay Meadows track meeting. The boys renewed their duel Christmas Day, with the opening of the new Santa Anita track. This gave Coucel seven days in which to pass Peters, who had 213 winners to his credit.

New Year Guest Coming to Home Of Theater Man

Manager Vic Walker of Walker's State theater is not planning to have any special noise making devices at his theater New Year's eve.

His explanation is that he is anticipating his new baby daughter home from the hospital with her mother the next day and inasmuch as the new Miss Walker is a husky infant, weighing eight pounds, he expects the baby to provide plenty of noise.

It is the first child of the Walker and has been named Sandra. She was born December 19.

Gross Transaction Tax Group to Meet At Beach Monday

Sponsors of the proposed Gross Transactions Tax will meet at the LaFayette hotel, Long Beach, on January 3 and 4 for the purpose of setting up a permanent campaign organization. It was announced today by J. S. Cameron, El Centro, acting secretary for the committee.

The meeting will begin at noon on January 3 with a luncheon. The sessions in Long Beach will follow two meetings held in Santa Ana when preliminary plans for launching the campaign were discussed.

Under the proposed Gross Transactions Tax, every existing form of taxation in the state would be repealed and the transactions tax substituted. A small percentage of tax would be charged on every transaction, and no person or organization would be exempt from taxation.

Court Notes

C. W. Pendleton, charged with petty theft, had charges dismissed in the Anaheim justice court yesterday on motion of the complaining witness after he agreed to make restitution.

Released in the Santa Ana police court Thursday on a 10-day suspended sentence for drunkenness, Pete Larson, 39, Los Angeles, was arrested in Fullerton yesterday on the same charge and was sentenced to 5 days in jail when he failed to pay a $10 fine.

should be asked to meet it in one swoop. It might take care of itself over a period of years, if business picks up and regular taxes give better returns.

Merriam's Christmas celebration consisted of a dinner at the hotel the day after he cut a birthday cake and distributed boxes of candy to his office workers and the press. But on New Year's he will follow his custom of some years' standing and attend the Tournament of Roses in Pasadena. Then back to Sacramento to complete his pre-legislative work, he inaugurated, lead the grand march at the inaugural ball, and swing into the crucial period of his term as governor.

C.; baritone horn solo, "Old Man River," Thomas Phippen, accompanied by Virginia Lee Harper.

Tables represented the University of California, at which Miss Phyllis Stuckey was hostess; U. S. C., Helen Moore, hostess; Fullerton Junior college, Catherine Hull, hostess; Santa Ana Junior college, Miss Margaret Ragsdale, hostess; U. S. C. L. A., Westover, hostess, and Stanford, Miss Florence Cokerley, hostess.

Miss Virginia Lee Harper arranged the program and Walter Walker presided as toastmaster. Mrs. L. L. Williams and Mrs. W. R. Aebersold headed a committee on arrangements.

Packing Of Navel Crop Under Way

ORANGE, Dec. 29.—Packing operations on the navel crop of this vicinity began Friday. The Santiago Orange Growers' association will ship about 40 cars, the Consolidated Orange Growers' association from 12 to 14 cars, Villa Park Orchards eight or nine cars, and Olive Heights Citrus association from 20 to 22 cars. The latter association shipped one car of fruit yesterday, packing this amount earlier in the week. These houses ship through the Orange County Fruit exchange.

Rainy weather of the past few days has delayed picking to some extent and weather conditions and prorate provisions will determine the length of the packing season. The F. R. Valentine company will not pack navels, according to information received at the packing plant, and the two M. O. D. and houses, in this vicinity, the Orange Mutual Distributors Citrus association and the Olive Hillside Groves, will not pack navels until later in the season.

COLLEGE CLASS GIVES PLAY AT DINNER AFFAIR

ORANGE, Dec. 29.—"Internationalism" was the theme of the sixth annual young people's banquet of the First Presbyterian church held Friday evening in the church basement, with Dr. Graham Hunter, pastor of the Fullerton First Presbyterian church, delivering the principal address of the evening on the subject, "Internationalism and Peace."

A short play, "The Lord's Prayer," was portrayed by members of a drama class of the Fullerton Junior college, under the direction of Mrs. Esther Culp Litchfield. Vocal solos were given by Fred Bewley, who also led in group singing. He was accompanied at the piano by Percy Green. Dr. Robert Burns McAlay, pastor of the church, spoke briefly on the subject, "Internationalism." Richard Leininger presided as toastmaster of the evening. Arrangements for the affair were in charge of Miss Gladys Palmer and Mrs. B. D. Stanley, leader of the college age Sunday school department of the church. Tables were decorated to represent various countries.

PARTIES HELD BY PUPILS OF MUSIC STUDIO

ORANGE, Dec. 29.—Pupils of the Fine studios were entertained at the studio Thursday. Junior pupils held guests on this afternoon, other groups having been entertained earlier in the week. On each occasion refreshments were served and Christmas carols were sung. Long tables were placed in the west studio, which was attractively decorated with festoons of Christmas greens, snow scenes and where a gingerbread house had been erected.

In the east studio Miss Beverly played "Silent Night" as the beautiful decorations were viewed which included a miniature studio, a small church over which a star was hung, a snow covered street with street lamp and window decorations, all of which were electrically lighted.

By HARRY GRAYSON

PASADENA, Dec. 29.—Inspired by the heroes of Jan. 1, 1926—pulsating in the Rose Bowl yesterday, Stanford has something to live up to.

Alabama's Red Elephants have much to live up to. Their illustrious predecessors won two games and tied another to give the Tuscaloosa institution the best record among schools that have gone in the coast argosy.

Three things have contributed to the quickening of the Stanford pace, one that only Santa Clara, which obtained a 7-7 draw, was able to match during the season. The Cardinals juniors are determined to wipe out the blur put upon their ledger by a brave little band of Columbia Lions in that grand upset a year ago.

The Palo Altoans are stirred by the tumult raised in connection with Alabama—"greatest team ever to come out of the south, and one that will slaughter Stanford."

The Cardinals are fired by the belief that they will deploy in the short-end of the waggering for the first time this year.

GRID FOR TOUGH TEST

Members of Stanford's official family expect the Big Red Team to turn in its most vicious game of the campaign.

"The boys are mad—cut to the quick," asserts one, "I only hope it lasts."

It is hard to say in what physical condition Stanford will be.

Bobby Grayson, everybody's All-American, and his understudy, Stan Anderson, "Monk" Moscrip, place-kicking end who made several All-American teams, and his running mate, Keith Topping; Claude Callaway, tackle, and some others have been injured or ill since the terrific encounter with California Nov. 24. The belief is that all will be in shape to go at least part of the distance.

"If Grayson, Moscrip, Topping, or Callaway is out, the team will play all the harder," explains the member of Stanford's official family.

"Stanford hasn't had the occasion to win a game for a disabled or indisposed star this season. Moscrip's trick knee developed on the eve of the California game so unexpectedly that the players didn't realize it was true. Grayson went out too suddenly for any psychological benefit."

Stanford is not going to be caught as unprepared as it was in what turned out to be a savagely fought scrap with Columbia. Nor are there the slightest chance of the Cardinals being as listless as they appeared at times while demonstrating their vast superiority in seven out of ten games during the past season.

The Californians are firmly convinced that they are to have their toughest test of the campaign on New Year's Day, and consequently will deploy with both eyes wide open.

RECORD TO MAINTAIN

Stanford will have no advantage over Alabama in this respect, with Dixie Howell, Bill Lee & Co. out to emulate the glorious Rose Bowl deeds of former wearers of the Crimson.

Coach Frank Thomas could use any one of the Tide's three previous performances here and not lack material for an entire series of pep talks.

Thomas could point to the Alabama heroes of Jan. 1, 1926—pulsating in the Rose Bowl yesterday, Stanford has something to live up to.

ABILITY TO ENFORCE GRID CODE DOUBTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The National "Code of Ethics" adopted by the National Collegiate Athletic association to regulate the purchasing of college athletic material, especially for football, cannot be enforced and therefore recruiting and subsidizing will continue unabated, it was said "off the record" today.

The code included nine clauses designed to combat the outright hiring of football players for a stipulated sum, directly or indirectly.

It provided that football players shall not be given a higher rate of pay than other students for college jobs.

Major John L. Griffith of Chicago, president of the N. C. A. A. and Z. B. Clevenger of Indiana university, chairman of the committee which drafted the code, pointed out it contained no enforcement clause and declared the N. C. A. A. was not attempting to act as policeman.

Morgano Defeats Paul At Stadium

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Tony Morgano's left slants were too much for Tommy Paul and the former N. B. A. featherweight champion dropped a 10-round decision to the Philadelphia south-paw last night. Each scaled 131.

CARDS LOSE POLO MATCH

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29.—(UP)—The Oklahoma Military academy polo team from Claremore, Okla., clinched the Will Rogers trophy yesterday by riding to victory over Stanford university's varsity, 7 to 5. It was the second straight triumph for the youngsters from the comedian's home town.

IMPROVED DON QUINETT BEATS CHURCH STARS

Fred Erdhaus, Tom Lacy and Bob Schwarm all figured prominently in a wild scoring attack in the final quarter to lead Coach Blanchard Beatty's Santa Ana Dons to a surprise victory over the champion First Christians of the Church league in Andrews gym last night. The score was 38 to 27.

For two periods the teams offered a rough-and-tumble exhibition in which the lead changed hands an even dozen times, but they came back the second half to play real basketball. "Cotton" Bennett, captain and forward of the Christians, sank a field goal near the end of the first half to capture the lead from the Jaycee outfit, 13-14. Forward Erdhaus followed with a neat set-up for the Dons, 15-14, but Bill Kolkhorst returned the point advantage to the Christians, 15-16, on a shot inside the foul-line, as the teams went into their intermission.

Effective shooting by Erdhaus and Lacy, combined with fine defensive work by Schwarm, assured the Dons victory in the fourth quarter, after they had come from behind to deadlock the Christians, 23-23, at the end of the third.

Fouled by Richardson, Erdhaus gained the lead for Santa Ana, 24-23, going into the final 12 minutes. Lacy and John Henry ran up seven points, Erdhaus sank three successive foul shots, and Schwarm clinched the scoring with two field goals.

Eleven points by Bill Kolkhorst, former Jaycee star, kept the Christians in the running. Captain Bennett and Bob Blanchard each contributed six. Vernon Valentine, another ex-Don, shared defensive honors with Santa Ana's alert Schwarm.

The lineups:

Santa Ana (38) (27) First Chris. Lacy (12) (6) Bennett (11) Kolkhorst (13) (6) Erdhaus (15) (6) Blanchard (6) (6) Schwarm (6) (6) Conkright (3) (2) Valentine

Score By Quarters

Santa Ana 10 10 8 10—38
First Christians 7 8 7 4—27

Substitutions

Santa Ana—Potter (4) for Henry; Weller (11) for Henry; Potter for Warren, Bauer for Erdhaus, Lee for Potter, Erdhaus for Lacy.

First Christian—Richardson (2) for Bennett, Bennett for Valentine, Valentine for Richardson.

PASADENA FORWARD TOPS HOOP SCORERS

After two rounds of Coast Preparatory league basketball, Sid Johnson of Pasadena, a forward, is leading 32 point-makers with 27, six more than Clyde Bridges of Alhambra, his closest competitor. Ken Nissley, forward, is the only Saint in the first ten.

Third round games are scheduled next Friday, Santa Ana drawing Alhambra here. The following night, the Saints play at Long Beach.

IMPROVED DON QUINETT BEATS CHURCH STARS

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Major Bob Neyland, Tennessee head football coach, who leaves soon for Army duty in Panama, turned in a record of 76 victories, five ties, and seven losses in 88 games during the nine years he spent at Knoxville. . . . He never won an undisputed Southern conference title. . . . He turned out some of the greatest stars in the game in Beattie Fellers, Bobby Dodd, Gene McEver, Herman Hickman and Buddy Hackman. . . . The basketball ball is more lively this year. . . . The size has been reduced, but the pressure inside the sphere is the same—13 pounds. . . . Colgate's gridders will travel 9100 miles in playing their 1935 schedule.

FOUR FOR ONE--FOR 'FRISCO

Here's Santa's gift to the San Francisco club of the Coast League, by virtue of the deal sending Joe DiMaggio to the Yankees. Four pieces of Yankee property received are: Above—Floyd Newkirk and Jimmy Densmore, right-handed pitchers. Below—Third Baseman Eddie (Doc) Farrell and First Baseman Les Powers. Newkirk and Farrell were with Newark and the Yanks last year. Powers was farmed to Sacramento, and Densmore rolled for Hollywood.

Ewert, McDonald Set For S. A. Golf Finals

Which is more deadly—the drive or the approach?

The answer to that query should answer another intriguing golf question—will Dick Ewert of Santa Ana or J. K. McDonald of Huntington Beach be the next champion of the Santa Ana Country club?

They collide tomorrow in a 36-hole climax to the tenth annual titular tournament, playing 18 holes in the morning and 18 more after lunch. Neither man has been in the finals heretofore.

Ewert, longer off the tee, has been established a slight favorite despite McDonald's greater experience and superior work around the greens. The young Santa Ana Jeweler is playing "hot" golf these days, as his successive victories over Ed Holmes Jr., Ray Chapman, A. B. Watson and Byron Curry readily indicate. Ewert's decision

Cut Rose Bowl Odds; Stanford Even Money

PASADENA, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Stan Anderson and Frank Alustiza, quarterback, kept the air filled with forwards and laterals in Stanford's drill.

Never a brilliant passer, Grayson's timing was poor and his shots inaccurate. Anderson and Alustiza were much better.

Briskness was the keynote of Alabama's session. To accustom his boys to a soaked field, Coach Frank Thomas advanced the drill several hours as soon as it stopped raining. They practiced power plays with a wet ball until Thomas was convinced they were getting used to the slippery piskin.

Thomas scheduled a semi-final workout this afternoon as did Stanford. A brief session of signal-calling Monday will complete the training period.

Runyan Rated Best Golfer By Olin Dutra

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29.—(UP)—Paul Runyan, the diminutive, cool shot-maker from Arkansas, is ranked No. 1 on an All-American golf team for 1934. It was announced today by Olin Dutra, National Open champion.

Behind Runyan on Dutra's All-American are placed the following players, based on 1934 showing: No. 2, Ky Laffoon; No. 3, Harry Cooper; No. 4, Tommy Armour; No. 5, Gene Sarazen; No. 6, Horton Smith; No. 7, Wiffy Cox; No. 8, Bobby Cruikshank; No. 9, Jimmy Thompson; No. 10, Craig Wood.

In explaining his choice of Runyan for first place, Dutra said: "Runyan clinches first place beyond all argument, for he won the National P. G. A. title and the season's records prove he led both in low-scoring and in money-winning."

Dutra leaves himself unlisted despite the fact that he won the National Open and the $12,500 Miami-Biltmore Open. He would have to be placed at the top if the rankings were made by some one else.

GRID COACHING RISKY TASK AT BIG 10 SCHOOLS

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The ousting of Dick Hanley as Northwestern football coach emphasizes the fact that the turnover in Big Ten gridiron mentors is as brisk as in any other conference in the country.

This is in direct contradiction to the Big Tens' policy of having higher eligibility requirements and more stringent rules than any other conference.

The Big Ten will enforce rigidly such rules as no post-season games, no training tables, uniform date for opening of practice, regulation of daily practice and other similar rules. But when it comes to protecting its coaches, who should be on the same high plane as every member of the faculty, they are as backward as any other group.

Hanley wasn't dismissed because he didn't win. President Walter Dill Scott, in accepting Hanley's resignation, said he considered Hanley one of the leading coaches in America. Hanley's team was on the way back up when he was forced to resign.

Hanley says his downfall resulted from his refusal to play politics. Hanley's boosters fought for him until the end, but opposition inside the faculty board of athletic control was too much.

At the time of his resignation Hanley was the second oldest coach in the Big Ten in the point of service. He had eight years behind him at Northwestern, during which he twice shared the Big Ten football title.

Bob Zuppke at Illinois is the oldest coach in the Big Ten in point of service. Since 1913, the year Zuppke started coaching at Illinois, the other nine schools have had 45 football coaches. That's an average of five each in 21 years. Changes have been coming fast and frequently the last few years. Big Ten coaches of ten years ago show many strange names as compared with the present day lineup:

College	1924 Coach	1934 Coach
Illinois	Zuppke	Zuppke
Michigan	Kipke	Kipke
Indiana	Ingram	McMillan
Northwestern	Thistlethwaite	Solem
Purdue	Phelan	Kizer
Wisconsin	Ryan	Spears
Ohio State	Spaulding	Bierman
Chicago	Stagg	Shaugnessy

The new Big Ten coaches of the last few years follow:

1933—Fritz Crisler, Minnesota; Noble Kizer, Purdue.

1932—Billy Hayes, Indiana.

1931—Clare Salem, Iowa; Bernie Bierman, Minnesota; "Doc" Spears, Wisconsin.

1930—Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago.

1929—Francis Schmidt, Ohio State; Clark Shaughnessy, Chicago.

1928—Northwestern looking for a coach, and two other schools may make changes before season opens.

WARBURTON STARTS IN EAST-WEST TILT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Irvine ("Cotton") Warburton, Southern California's little speedster, will get his chance to gallop in the East-West Shrine game New Year's Day.

Believing that weakness of his interferers rather than lack of his old-time speed held Warburton down during the Trojans' disastrous season, Coach "Babe" Hollingbery and Percy Looey have assigned the cotton-thatched midget a starting role in their lineup for the charity contest.

County Baseball Teams In Three Contests Sunday

Weather permitting, three Orange county baseball teams will see action Sunday.

Playing on their new home grounds at Westminster, the Santa Anita All-Stars take on the Los Angeles Colored Giants at 2 p. m. Either Miller or Delgado will pitch with "Bomo" Koral back of the log.

Garden Grove's Broncos oppose the Norton Auto Wreckers at Garden Grove. The Wreckers raise as one of the strongest clubs in Long Beach. Ferris will hurl and Johnson catch for Garden Grove.

The Orange County Golden Glows, making Olive their stamping ground, meet the Fuller Trojans at Olive. Jack Ryan will do the flinging for the Golden Glows. Bushman will do the receiving.

Harold Lewis President Of Tennis Club

Harold Lewis, one of the city's most enthusiastic and energetic boosters of the sport, will be president of the Santa Ana Tennis club during 1935.

He was elected at a meeting last night in the clubrooms of the Y. W. C. A., Fifth and Main streets.

Lewis, an employee of the Abstract and Title Insurance company, served as treasurer for the past year and was instrumental in generating tennis interest among scores of junior players here.

The vice-president's post went to Lewis Wetherell, city champion for the past two years. Wayne Moon was re-elected secretary over his own protests, and Al Jasper was made treasurer.

JIMMY COLLINS OF CARDS BEST SLUGGER

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Jimmy Collins of the St. Louis Cardinals led the National league in slugging honors last season, but he got a race right down to the finish from Melott of the New York Giants.

Collins hit for 369 bases in 600 times at bat, drove in 128 runs and compiled a slugging percentage of .615. Out drove in the most runs, 135, hit for 344 total bases, and had a percentage of .591, according to official league figures released today.

Floyd Vaughn of Pittsburgh drew the most bases on balls during the season with a total of 94. Adolph Camilli, who played with both Chicago and Philadelphia, struck out 94 times to top the circuit. Frank Frisch, who led the Cardinals to the world title, struck out the fewest times, 10.

'Slip' and Clint On Scouting Trip

MERCED, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Two college coaches were in Merced yesterday on "private business," which, in each case, apparently was connected with four outstanding Merced high school athletes.

The coaches, "Slip" Madigan of St. Mary's and Clint Evans of University of California, each were known to have interviewed Coach Bill Joerg of Merced high school and Ernest (Hooks) Devours, Bartley Nuttall, Reuben Schmidt and Donald Hesse.

The four youths this fall completed four years of football together as Merced's backfield, and all are stars in other sports.

Their work largely was responsible for Merced's winning the San Joaquin valley football championship.

FRESNO STATE BEATS POETS

WHITTIER, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Fresno State college garnered its second victory on its current road trip last night by subduing Whittier college's cagers, 41 to 37.

CHAMPION SAYS LEVINSKY TRIED 'SNEAK' PUNCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Max Baer, heavyweight champion, claims that Kingfish Levinsky, Chicago, tried to sneak over a killing punch in the first round of their short-lived battle last night.

"So I leveled in the second round and knocked him out," Baer was quoted as saying in a telephone conversation with a San Francisco newspaperman.

Baer is due to return to California next month to appear in a benefit bout to aid the widow of Frankie Campbell, young heavyweight who died following a bout with Baer. The show tentatively has been set for Jan. 23 in Oakland. No opponent for Baer has been selected yet.

LEVINSKY KNOCKED OUT FOR FIRST TIME

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Lips bared back from his teeth, left cheek red and left eye swelling, Max Baer circled around the ring following his foe as 14,701 persons came to their feet in a mighty roar.

He caught him along the ropes near a corner. S-w-i-s-h! a left hook delivered from the hip caught King Levinsky on the corner of the chin. He wavered for a moment, then topped on his shoulder blades. The punch paralyzed him.

Referee Tommy Thomas slowly tolled off the count: one to ten. Levinsky had been counted out for the first time in his pugilistic career, embracing 77 battles—including bouts with three champions: Jack Dempsey, Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera.

He didn't get up. He was cleanly knocked out. His handlers pulled him to his corner. He didn't know what time it was. That's how Max Baer, heavyweight champion of the world, knocked out King Levinsky, Chicago, in the second round of a scheduled 4-round battle last night at the Chicago stadium. The time of the finish was 53 seconds of the second round.

In the dressing room after the bout Baer's manager, Ancil Hoffman, said Max would defend his title next September in Chicago.

Last night's bout drew gross receipts of $29,985.63. Baer's share was 40 per cent of the net, Levinsky's 15. Baer weighed 211, one pound more than he did when he won the title from Carnera last June. Levinsky weighed 201.

FRESNO STATE BEATS POETS

WHITTIER, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Fresno State college garnered its second victory on its current road trip last night by subduing Whittier college's cagers, 41 to 37.

COMMITTEE ON HARBOR EVENT MEETS DEC. 31

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 29.—A meeting of the special committee of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce on plans for a celebration to mark the start of dredging work in the harbor will be held Monday at the offices of the chamber.

Plans call for the first dredger of the Standard Dredging company and the San Francisco Bridge company to be in the harbor ready for work on January 2, and if possible a short program will be held on that date.

Owing to many plans for New Year's throughout the Southland, chamber officials stated the date for the celebration may be changed to about January 8. The committee, which was appointed by President A. B. Rousseau this week, has been considering suggestions for the ceremonies. Definite announcement will be made Monday of plans.

Members of the committee are A. B. Rousseau, J. P. Greeley, R. L. Patterson, Lew Wallace, Geo. P. Wilson, H. Maskey, J. P. McNally, Harry Welch, J. A. Beck, Walter Spicer and Sam Meyer.

Couple Honored At Dinner Party

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 29.—A dinner party honoring Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, of Long Beach, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Menard was held at the Menard home this week. Announcement of the marriage of the couple, which was performed in Las Vegas, Nev., last April, was made recently.

A turkey dinner was served, the Christmas motif being carried out in the decorations. The honorees were presented with a number of gifts by the group.

The party included the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomas, of Westminster, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Menard and son, Dean, of Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Menard, the parents, and the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas.

BEACH SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HOLDS DINNER

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Jennie Ward, who has the largest young men's Sunday school class in this city and one of the largest in Orange county, entertained the members and their parents at the First Methodist church dining room with a turkey dinner and program last night. There were 40 boys in the class and covers were laid at the banquet for 100 guests.

Talks were made by Charles H. Howard, pioneer churchman and first superintendent of the Methodist church in this city, who praised the work of Mrs. Ward, veteran church worker and widow of a Methodist minister, Roy K. Smith, present superintendent of the Methodist church, told of the success Mrs. Ward had had with the boys of the church. The Rev. John H. Engle, pastor of the church, also spoke of the work of Mrs. Ward. Mrs. Roy K. Smith presented the teacher with a beautiful overnight bag, a gift from the mothers of the boys. Responding, Mrs. Ward told of her work here and in other churches.

Sharkey Plimley, president of the boys' class, delivered the welcome to guests and Ted Severson, also a member of the class, presided as toastmaster. The program closed with assembly singing led by Dick Warner, his sister, Miss Edna Warner, playing the piano accompaniment.

RECORD CROWD EXPECTED FOR LEGION PARTY

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 29.—A record crowd is expected for this year's "Hi-Jinks," sponsored annually by the Newport Harbor American Legion post, to be held December 31 at the Rendezvous ballroom in Balboa. E. B. Whitson, master of ceremonies, has announced that advance reservations indicate that more merry-makers than ever before will greet the new year at the Legion party.

Horns, whistles, toys and all sorts of fun making devices will be distributed among guests at the party, and those in charge have promised that the program arranged will hold many surprises.

Assisting Whitson in plans for the affair are Frank W. Crocker, Rev. George Gordon, Lloyd Clatter, Gus Tamplin, Claude A. Pullen and Russell Norton.

Queen Esthers Of Newport Beach To Sponsor Program

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 29.—The Queen Esther society of Newport Beach will sponsor a program at Christ Church By the Sea, January 4, at 7 o'clock, proceeds from which will go into their missionary fund. Songs and stories will be featured on the program and games will be played. A short play will be presented by pupils of the Visel studio of Santa Ana.

Members of the society from the Anaheim White Temple church will help in staging the affair, which is held annually. The Newport society will present reports on its Christmas welfare work, during which gifts and foodstuffs were distributed to the David and Margaret home for children at La Verne.

Hold Session Of Star Club Jan. 14

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 29.—Members of the Garden Grove chapter of the Eastern Star met in the K. of P. hall in Anaheim Thursday evening, with the new worthy matron, Ethel Schauer, and worthy patron, Ernest Fulsom, presiding. Mrs. Emma Kearns, junior past matron, and Dr. Donald R. E. Waters, junior past patron, were escorted to the seat.

Announcement was made that the regular meeting of the Monday Afternoon Star club will be held January 14 in place of January 7 as previously planned. The group will meet at the home of Mrs. Mertie Fulsom at 2 o'clock, with Mrs. Letty Lee Robbins and Mrs. Helen Woodworth as hostesses.

Refreshments were served at tables decorated with poinsettias and tall red and green tapers. The committee in charge consisted of Misses Margaret and Matilda Hammontree and Norman Bryan.

Entertain Friends

MIDWAY CITY, Dec. 29.—A party was given Thursday evening by Dr. and Mrs. Russell I. Johnson at their home, 211 Van Buren street, with neighborhood friends as guests. Refreshments of jello salad, cookies, coffee and tea were served following the conclusion of the card games.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Miller, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Davies, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Hardisty and the hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Johnson.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When DAN BLEEKER, publisher of The Blade, learns that CHARLES MORDEN, gold and politician, has been mysteriously killed he employs SIDNEY GRUFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, a woman's fingerprints are found in the apartment of a girl named ALICE LORTON who has reported the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORDAWAY. Gruff learns that CATHAY is trying to locate a Mrs. BLANCHE MALONE. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI

Sidney Gruff took the cigar from his lips. "Mrs. Blanche Malone," he repeated thoughtfully. His eyes sought Dan Bleeker's. "You don't know who she is, do you—what she looks like, how old she is, or anything else about her?"

"No," Bleeker said. "All we can get is the name. Racine is looking for a woman of that name. That's all I know."

"And Racine is working for Mrs. Frank C. Cathay," Gruff reminded him. "Anything else?"

"That about sums it all up," Bleeker said. "The medical examination of Morden's body shows that he was killed about noon on Thursday. Perhaps a few minutes after noon. It's impossible to tell. He hadn't had any lunch. He'd been doing quite a bit of running around. He hadn't kept any notes of what he'd discovered when I told him not to—but there was a notebook in his pocket in which he'd kept his expense account and he had spent quite a bit of cash money."

"Do you remember the items?" he asked.

"No, I don't," Bleeker said. "There were two or three small ones and then a big one. I was once as though he'd taken a long trip somewhere in a cab."

Gruff frowned for a moment. "Anything else?" he asked.

"No," Bleeker said. "There were two or three small ones and then a big one. I was once as though he'd taken a long trip somewhere in a cab."

Present One Act Play At Beach Jan. 4

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 29.—Presentation of a one-act play, "One Ring for the Queen," written by Summer Crosby, with the scene laid in England during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, is among entertainment features of the program arranged for the meeting of the Laguna Beach Woman's club for January 4. It was announced today by Miss Deanna Vivian, publicity chairman of the organization.

The cast of the play, directed by Mrs. Maudie Pillsbury, include Lewellyn Lissak, Marjorie Gowan, Ed Hobart, Mrs. Emma Menely, Mrs. Annie Copley and Mrs. Hiram Shaw. The production will be given in the afternoon.

SOCIAL ENJOYED BY CHURCH CLASS

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 29.—Members of the King's Daughters Sunday school class of the Baptist church entertained their husbands and friends with a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Conrad Oertly Thursday afternoon.

Reports from the secretary and treasurer were given at the business session. Mrs. W. V. Frink presiding. Devotionals were led by the Rev. Elmer Lyon. Mrs. Lyon was in charge of the program, which consisted of readings by Mrs. P. M. German, P. E. White and Mrs. Frink; a poem, "I Am Not Growing Old," by Mrs. Lyon, and a duet, "Silent Night," by Mrs. William Lehnardt and Mrs. Frink, with Mrs. German at the piano.

After an interesting game a gift exchange was held. Refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Oertly, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Allen and granddaughter, Miss Ellen Oertly.

Those present were the Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. William Lehnardt, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hedstrom, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. White, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Allen, Mrs. Hattie Clark, Mrs. W. V. BOOK REVIEWS

BY MARY BURKE KING

The Second House from the Corner by Max Miller, published by E. P. Dutton.

In this book: The Second House from the Corner this author has captured again the fresh spirit which was so delightful a surprise in his first book: I Cover the Waterfront. A little of the self-consciousness which crept to the fore in: He Went Away for a While and The Beginning of a Mortal, has fallen away.

In this book the author has become a householder, with a mortgage, and with a bit of the contentment and conservatism which characterize the householder, particularly in contrast with the individual who can "go away for a while".

There is a variety of atmosphere in the book. There is some of the tone of David Grayson's book there is humor, and plenty of refreshing surprise. In one of the sketches, he tells a boyhood experience which explains some of the apparitions of sear-spirits.

In this book there is the same fresh spontaneity in reactions, the same apparently unconscious mingling of the personal and the impersonal, which was so delightful in "I Cover the Waterfront". The personal experiences and reactions which he brings out are such as are shared by mankind to a large extent and so it is a forgivable kind of personal intrusion.

Stages on the Road by Sigrid Undset.

Those who have been following Sigrid Undset's latest book have been aware of the growing influence of religion in her life as it has been prominent in her writings. This non-fiction book explains her religious attitude and the ways and means through which she has arrived at her present degree of faith. There are dissertations on faith and brief biographies of a religious martyr, a saint, and heroic, among others which are interesting in themselves but most particularly coupled with the introduction which expounds some phase of Sigrid Undset's belief.

The book affords a greater insight into this author's personality than is possible indirectly through her fiction.

Skin Deep by M. C. Phillips, published by the Vanguard Press. Those who read "Getting Your Money's Worth" and "One Hundred Million Guinea Pigs" and found them useful and interesting will welcome this book "Skin Deep". This book treats of the cosmetic and beauty trades as the earlier book treated of the field of patent medicines, mouth washes, and other things. "Skin Deep" is equally outspoken. It names names.

It is really startling in its revelations. And these things impress one with its value. We are told by this author that one reducing medium sold to women is dangerous to use even under a doctor's direction, and that an eyelash dye is on the market which has made some women blind, and that some fine mild soaps are more injurious than some cheap five and ten-cent store brands.

Any way one regards this book it is impressive. On the one hand, there is the personal angle of using its information to keep clear of worthless and injurious cosmetics and drugs, and on the other hand there is the conviction which the book establishes that the laws governing such products, as exposed in this book, are quite inadequate.

BALLAD OF CHRISTMAS GHOSTS

Between the moonlight and the fire

In winter twilights long ago,

What ghosts we raised for your desire,

To make your merry blood run slow!

How old, how grave, how wise we grow!

No Christmas ghost can make us chill,

Save those that troop in mournful row,

The ghosts we all can raise at will!

The beasts can talk in barn and byre

On Christmas Eve, old legends know.

As year by year the years retire,

We men fall silent then I trow,

Such sights hath memory to show,

Such voices from the silence thrill,

Such shapes return with Christmas snow—

The ghosts we all can raise at will!

Oh, children of the village choir,

Your carols on the midnight thrill!

Oh, bright across the mist and mire,

Ye ruddy hearths of Christmas glow!

Beat back the dread, beat down the woe,

Let's cheerily descend the hill;

Be welcome all, to come or go,

The ghosts we all can raise at will!

HELEN HAYES AT BROADWAY FOR TWO DAYS

Lovers of Sir James Barrie's whimsical romance, "What Every Woman Knows" will receive a new thrill when the picture version is screened at the Broadway theater tomorrow and Monday with Helen Hayes in the starring role. The picture will be shown for but two days because of the special New Year's bill which follows.

Months of careful testing before actual filming began resulted, in one of the most notable casts of the year. Brian Aherne, English stage star, was chosen as the leading man. A most unusual departure in screen roles was attempted by Madge Evans in the role of a siren, Lucille Watson, noted Broadway actress, plays her first talking picture role. Others in the cast include Dudley Digges, Donald Crisp, David Torrence, Henry Stephenson and Royd Irwin.

Short subjects include a Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Live Ghosts," a musical specialty, "Songs of the Colleges" with Hal Roberts and his band, and Register World News events.

JAMES BARRIE NOVEL AT WEST COAST FRIDAY

With Katharine Hepburn as the fiery kypsy girl, Babbie, central figure of Sir James M. Barrie's most famous romance, "The Little Minister" comes to the screen of the West Coast theater next Friday.

Miss Hepburn has never had a finer role than Babbie nor taken part in a lovelier screen romance than that with Gavin, the shy little dominie of the tiny Scotch town of Thrumms immortalized by Barrie, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The able and popular John Beal is seen as the little minister himself, and others in the carefully chosen cast are Alan Hale, Frank Conroy, Donald Crisp, Reginald Denny, Beryl Mercer, Dorothy Stickney, Lumsden Hare, Billy Watson and Andy Clyde.

"The Little Minister" not only tells one of the most absorbing love stories ever filmed, but is filled with action, color and humor. Short subjects on the bill include a Silly Symphony cartoon, "Tortoise in the Hair," "Remember the Alamo," a See American First travogue, and World News events.

SHIRLEY TEMPLE FILM CLOSES RUN

Movie fans who enjoy the acting of Shirley Temple, sensational young player, will have the last opportunity to see her latest picture, "Bright Eyes," when it is screened for the final times tonight at the Broadway theater.

The picture is the finest and most heartwarming in which Shirley has appeared, according to theater attaches. James Dunn is cast as her leading man in a cast which includes Jane Darwell, Lois Wilson, Judith Allen, Theodore von Eltz, Dorothy Christy and others.

Bill Late Films For West Coast

"The Captain Hates the Sea," will open at the West Coast theater in the near future, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain. The picture features a big cast, including Walter Connolly, John Gilbert, Wynne Gibson, Victor McLaglen and others.

Other films just booked for the West Coast theater include "Man Who Reclaimed His Head," with Claude Rains, Joan Bennett and Lionel Atwell; "White Lies," with Walter Connolly, Fay Wray and Victor Jory; and "The Mighty Barnum," Wallace Beery's new picture.

"THE VANISHING SHADOW"

STAR OF SPECTACLE

Irene Dunne, below, is the star of "Sweet Adeline," mammoth musical spectacle which opens at the West Coast theater tomorrow with a second feature, "Home on the Range," a thrilling Western in which Jackie Coogan plays his first adult role.

New Year To Be Ushered In At Show

There's be plenty of fun at the Broadway theater when the New Year is ushered in, and besides—a special show arranged by Manager Lester J. Fountain for his annual Midnight Show, a feature which climaxes the activities of the theater here for the year.

Details of the show were announced today. The main attraction is "Romance in Manhattan," pre-released by the studios for the Midnight Show. The picture was carefully selected for the special show, and includes in the cast such popular players as fiery Ginger Rogers, Francis Lederer, J. Farrell MacDonald, Jimmy Butler and Helen Ware. Smoothly worked out, the plot tells the story of a young immigrant who has entered this country illegally and of the complications he gets into because of this fact. Sparkling, witty dialogue and fact action mark the feature.

Built into the program is a selection of short subjects which includes solid and enjoyable entertainment. First there is a regular vaudeville program in picture form, Gus Van and His Neighbors, featuring a dazzling array of talent including comedy, music, dancing and singing, with Armida, diminutive Mexican firebrand, Danny Dare's Dancing Darlings, Gine, De Quincey and Louis in a specialty and other popular artists. A Screen Song, "Let's All Sing Like the Birdies Sing" and another of the popular Dumbell Letters series will be presented.

Doors of the theater will be swung open at 11:30 p. m. New Year's Eve and the show goes on at midnight. This year the policy of first come first served will be adopted, and all seats in the house will sell for one price. Tickets now are on sale at the Broadway box office.

Manager Fountain promised everyone who attends the Midnight show plenty of fun, and in order to insure that the customers do have fun, he has secured all of the "props" necessary for a New Year's celebration, including comic hats, noise-makers, serpentine, etc.

"THE VANISHING SHADOW"

IN BROADWAY FILM

Helen Hayes and Brian Aherne are seen below in one of the romantic scenes from the film version of Sir James Barrie's whimsical romance, "What Every Woman Knows" which is the featured attraction at the Broadway theater for Sunday and Monday.

ON SCREEN AT WALKER'S

Mae West, below comes to Walker's State theater for a three day run starting Sunday in "I'm No Angel."

CROSBY SINGING COMEDY OPENS HERE TUESDAY

Paramount's new comedy-with-songs film, "Here Is My Heart," featuring Bing Crosby with one of the best supporting casts he has had in a film, is the special New Year's film fare at the Broadway theater. The picture will open Tuesday and show through Saturday.

The cast in "Here Is My Heart" includes Kitty Carlisle, Allison Janney, Roland Young, Resi-nald Owen and other popular players. The songs for the new film were written by Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, authors of "Love in Bloom," and include "With Every Breath I Take," "June in January" and "Love Is Just Around the Corner."

The story of "Here Is My Heart" concerns a millionaire crooner who is idling around the world in search of amusement and falls head over heels in love with an unattainable Russian princess when he sees her in an elevator. Unable to meet her in any other way, the crooner buys the hotel and disguises himself as a waiter, and woos her in the only way he knows how—by singing to her.

Short subjects on the New Year's program include a color cartoon, "Elephants Never Forget," a Pete Smith sport film, "Rugby," a Charlie Chase comedy, "You Said a Haful," and Register World News events.

WELL BALANCED BILL AT WEST COAST SUNDAY

A well-balanced double feature program with "Sweet Adeline," new musical spectacle with Irene Dunne, famous stage and screen singing star in the title role and the second feature, Zane Grey's "Home on the Range" featuring Jackie Coogan in the leading role, opens at the West Coast theater tomorrow for an engagement of six days.

"Sweet Adeline" is crammed with hilarious comedy, delightful romance and stirring drama in addition to its gigantic spectacle numbers. Music of the operetta contains some of the most popular songs of the day. Irene Dunne sings five of these, and sings two others with Phil Regan, the singing cop of radio fame. Donald Woods, Hugh Herbert, Ned Sparks and Joseph Cawthorn are included in the big cast.

Grown into a tall, bronzed young man, Jackie Coogan of "The Kid" fame, returns to the screen for his first adult role in "Home on the Range," the story of a deadly feud between a gang of crooks and the rancher brothers, played by Coogan and Randolph Scott. Addison Richards, Fuzzy Knight, Evelyn Brent and Ann Sheridan have important roles.

Short subjects include a tragedy, "Isle of Bermuda" and World News events.

"BROADWAY BILL" ENDS RUN TONIGHT

"Broadway Bill," Frank Capra's latest picture, closes a successful run here tonight when it is screened for the last times at the West Coast theater.

Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy head the cast in "Broadway Bill," a picture jammed full of human interest and excitement which tells the story of the romance of a man and a girl, both imbued with the love of horses and a roving nature. Walter Connolly and Helen Vinson, are included in the cast.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1934

Post-Christmas Events
Shared By
Two Groups Of Guests

Mrs. F. E. Coulter received guests at two post Christmas affairs in her home, 826 South Rose street, the latest of which took place yesterday afternoon when 18 friends were brought together for an annual courtesy extended by the hostess.

Contributing to the hospitable setting was a blazing fire on the hearth and the warm glow of many candles. Mrs. Leonard G. Swales and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin poured tea from a table spread with red tulle over lace. Red tapers were adorned with silver ribbons and balls. Using tiny figures gowned in Oriental silks, Mrs. Coulter had portrayed the Nativity in an effective center-piece.

Flowers gracing the home had been sent in by Mrs. John Tessmann and Mrs. C. C. Fuller in time for the first event, a tea at which Mrs. Coulter entertained on Thursday afternoon. Her guests were members of her Senior High school Sunday school class of First Presbyterian church, with their mothers.

Margaret Gaebe Fletcher gave a reading, "The Jesus Babe," while John Tessmann provided a musical background of German Christmas carols played on the zither.

Miss Catherine McDermott poured tea. All appointments were the same as for yesterday's party. Class members present for this event included the Misses Marian Pletke, Valerie Demetriou, Dorothy Ellison, Mary Crowe, Margaret Fles, Margaret Baxter, Inez Rez, Gwendolyn Griffen, Carrie Kimball, Donna Baker, Florence Liggett, Evelyn Shepherd, Evelyn Van Deusen, Dora Lloyd, Ione Hooven, Margaret Myers, Catherine McDermott, Betty Jane Moore, Margaret McKinstry, Agnes McKinstry.

Country Club To Be Scene Of
New Year's Eve Ball

Holiday events for Santa Ana Country club members are expected to reach their climax on New Year's eve when a ball will be held at the clubhouse.

Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock. There will be a midnight supper, after which dancing will be resumed.

Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen, dance chairman for the year, is inaugurating this event, which is taking the place of the usual Christmas affair. She and Mr. MacMullen will have as assistant hosts, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, Judge and Mrs. F. C. Drumm, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur May, Mr. and Mrs. J. Riley Huber and Richard Ewert.

Relatives Are Guests
At Turkey Dinner

Mrs. M. E. Wardlow was hostess in her home, 942 West Bishop street, at a holiday turkey dinner for a group of relatives.

Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Robert Wardlow and son, Donald; Lloyd Hyton and son, Harlan; Ray Wardlow and children, Thelma, Mildred, Floyd and Lloyd; Talbert; Raymond Burns and children, Patricia and David of Westminster; Frank Gair and children, Howard and Caroline of Garden Grove; C. H. Cheney, Carl Du Ball and daughter, Eleanor; Oliver Du Ball of Santa Ana; Vance Wardlow and son Joe of Bellflower; Clare Wardlow and children, Barbara and Donna Lee of Hollywood; Leroy Wardlow and daughter, Mary Judith, of Corona; Mrs. Martha Oliver and daughter, Elaine, of Talbert; and James Wardlow of Haynes.

Family Group Will Go To Pasadena Tuesday

Brought together at a pleasant event on Christmas day in the Julius Meyer home, 320 West Orange Road, a family group plans to hold another reunion on New Year's day. They will attend the Tournament of Roses and the football game, remaining in Pasadena for a dinner party in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Meyer and children, Bill and Mary Theresa Meyer, with their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Meyer and children Jane and Charlene, of San Bernardino, will be joined by Dr. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Montgomery for events of the day. The Ben Meyers have been here since Christmas, when they and other members of the family shared the hospitality of the Julius Meyer home. Turkey dinner was served.

Miss Grace Hofer
Becomes Bride
Of Harry Conklin

Larkspur, snapdragons and shaggy chrysanthemums in yellow and white were used in decorating the home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hofer, 2219 Grand avenue, yesterday afternoon, when their daughter, Miss Grace Hofer became the bride of Harry Conklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Monroe of Ninth street, Upland. The candle light ceremony which took place at 5 o'clock in the presence of a small group of relatives and intimate friends, was read by the Rev. Harry Owings, pastor of Santa Ana Baptist church.

As the strains of "I Love You Truly," were softly played at the piano by Mrs. Elmer Juenke, the bride made her appearance. She was attractively gowned in a semi-formal deep raspberry red velvet frock with which she wore matching accessories. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her corsage was of gardenias and lilies of the valley. The bride and bridegroom were unattended.

Following the ceremony, an informal buffet supper was served, during which time a two tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was cut by Mrs. Conklin, and served with ice cream.

After a short honeymoon, the young couple will make their home in Santa Ana temporarily. Mrs. Conklin who is a graduate of Orange Union High school also attended Redlands University. Mr. Conklin attended Santa Ana Junior college after graduating from Pomona High school. He is connected with the Hemphill Diesel engineering school in Los Angeles.

Present at the ceremony were Messrs. and Mesdames William C. Hofer, of Santa Ana; Will Monroe of Upland; C. W. Hofer of Corona; Elmer Juenke and children, David and Irene; and Harold Bushman, of Orange; Miss Elsie Zellmer, of Del Rapids, S. D., and the Rev. Harry Owings, of Santa Ana.

Relatives From Near And Far Join In Celebration

Brought together for a celebration of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hart's 55th wedding anniversary, members of a family group are enjoying a holiday visit which will come to a close next week.

Activities began Christmas eve in the Hart home, 841 North Birch street. Christmas day brought a turkey dinner served in the big dining room, made festive with holiday decorations. The many packages on the tree included a variety of anniversary gifts for the hosts.

The visitors are enjoying trips to various Southern points during their stay here.

In the group are Mrs. R. H. Davidson, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Edgar McBee, Centralia, Kans.; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Organ, Edgar, Neb.; Mr. and Mrs. Ira E. Paine and family, Miss Ellinora Paine and Robert Paine, Grand Island, Neb.; Mrs. Homer Basom, Wilder, Ida.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart and Mrs. Ben Goodin, Los Angeles, all daughters and sons of the hosts, with their families.

Other relatives present for the Christmas dinner were Mrs. Butler Hart and son, Deane; Santa Ana; Ben and Anne Hart and Joe McMahon, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Organ and son, Donald, Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hart have lived in Santa Ana since 1920 when they came here from Lincoln, Neb. They were married Christmas eve, 1875 in Gerrard, Ill. In 1880 they went to Nebraska to live. Mr. Hart gave his time to the grain business and to banking while living in the east. He retired after coming to California.

Bridge Club Spends

Anniversary Observed
During Family
Gathering

Assembled in the E. T. Winchell home in Tustin this week for the first complete reunion in ten years, a group of relatives joined in celebrating the 42nd wedding anniversary of the host's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Overton of Santa Ana.

The complete reunion was made possible by the recent arrival in California of the Winchells' oldest son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winchell, former Kansas City residents who have established their home in Anaheim.

The hosts' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Griffith of Alhambra, formerly of Santa Ana, and another daughter, Miss Madeline Winchell now of Porterville, joined the group for the occasion. Edward and Richard Winchell of the home, and another son, Perry Winchell of Fresno, were present. The latter will return north soon, concluding a holiday visit here.

Oregon holly, poinsettias and red roses decked the home for the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Overton, who celebrated their anniversary, were married December 25, 1892 in Lawrence, Kans. Mrs. Overton formerly was Miss Jessie Heydt.

Holiday Features Mark

Afternoon Wedding Has Setting In
Congregational Church

Miss Ruth Louise Dohmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dohmer of Tustin and Garth D. Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Olsen of Costa Mesa, were married Thursday afternoon, December 27 at 4 o'clock in First Congregational church. The 150 guests included a wide circle of the couple's friends in De Molay and Job's Daughters, the one organization, which the bridegroom has served as master counsellor; the other, which the bride has led as honored queen.

The single ring ceremony took place by candlelight, with the Rev. Perry Schrock officiating. Torch-bearers formed an effective background at the altar, where quantities of ferns and palms were banked. Alan Revell was at the organ, playing "At Dawning," "O, From-ise Me," "I Love You Truly" and Lohengrin's Wedding March.

John Dohmer gave his daughter in marriage. The bride wore an Imperial blue crepe wedding gown fashioned ankle length with silk skirt. Her feather turban was of white, which she carried a white lace handkerchief, the gift of Mrs. John S. McCarty. Wearing a lucky coin in her sandal, and a ring belonging to Mrs. Laura Kesemann as the "something borrowed," she observed the bridal traditions. Her other ornaments included a gold mesh and rhinestone necklace and bracelet. She carried a muff of pure white carnations and chrysanthemums made with a shower of lilies of the valley, and centered with a gardenia corsage which she wore later in the day with her traveling suit.

Miss Margaret Ellen Sawyer, also a past queen of Job's Daughters, was maid of honor. She wore a tulle style afternoon dress of jade green, with metallic trimming. A silver turban and sandals, with a bracelet which she received as a gift from the bride, completed her costume. Her muff was of pale yellow sweet peas, yellow roses and mystery gardenias.

Jack McCarty was best man. Roy Gundrum, a cousin of the bride, and Abe Bergsetter, past master counsellor of De Molay, were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Dohmer received guests at a reception held at the Doris Kathryn. Mrs. Dohmer was gowned in black crepe trimmed in sequins, worn with a gardenia corsage. Mrs. H. P. Olsen wore black crepe with gold metallic trim and a corsage of Tallman roses. The bride cut the first slices of a tiered wedding cake, which was served with ices and coffee. Decorations were in green and white, special appointments at the bridal table including miniature bride and bridegroom figures.

Mr. and Mrs. Olsen left for a southern mountain resort for their honeymoon. For traveling, the latter donned a dark blue tailleur with black accessories. Both of the young people were graduated from Santa Ana High school, the bridegroom continuing his studies at the local Junior college.

On the eve of the wedding, Mr. Olsen was host at a dinner party at Cafe de Paris. At this time he presented his best man with a bill fold set, and Miss Dohmer presented Miss Sawyer with her gift.

Y. L. I.
During a meeting of Y. L. I. held Thursday night in K. C. hall, plans were completed for the organization's annual birthday party to be held Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the hall. Bishop Bernard J. Sullivan, S. J. of Patna, India, who is visiting his sister, Mrs. Clyde Ashen, will be guest of honor. Arrangements are in charge of Mrs. Urban Engelman. All members of Knights of Columbus are invited to attend the party.

Details for a benefit card party to be held January 31 in K. C. hall were also discussed. Mrs. Robert Sandon was appointed to be in charge of the affair.

A special guest at last night's meeting was the chaplain, the Rev. Timothy Galvin, who gave a short address.

YOU and your Friends
Holidays guests in the home of Mrs. Josephine Antidel, 412 Halesworth street, were Messrs and Mesdames Charles Knott of Huntington Lake; Roy Antidel of Oroville; J. Antidel and Miss Olive Antidel of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lutz were hosts at a turkey dinner this week in their home at Costa Mesa. They entertained a family group including Mr. and Mrs. James McMillan and Donald McMillan, Midway City; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bowers and sons, Stanley and Dale, of Bolis; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Taggart, Long Beach.

James Lanham has returned to Lytle Creek, Calif., concluding a holiday visit with his mother, Mrs. Iva Lanham of the Mason hotel.

BOTH PRETTY APRONS COME IN ONE PATTERN

PATTERN 2060
By ANNE ADAMS

In the house it's easy to look your charming best when you're being your most efficient self if you have plenty of pretty aprons to protect your nice frocks and lend a gay air to your appearance at the same time. Either of these two would do the job well! For both are designed with amply full skirts, patch-pocketed for convenience, and both have a smart half-belted waistline, an effect that's slenderizing too. The upper model has a trim V neckline which shows a glimpse of the frock beneath, while the youthful yoke of the lower design extends across the shoulders and caps the sleeves in a very perky way. Both of these dainty aprons are included in the one pattern.

Pattern 2060 is available in sizes small, medium and large. Small size takes 11-12 yards 36 inch fabric for each apron. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

Send for your copy of the ANNE ADAMS WINTER FASHION BOOK! Crowded with exclusive patterns for the child, the young girl and the matron. PRICE OF BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS BUT WHEN ORDERED WITH AN ANNE ADAMS PATTERN IT IS ONLY TEN CENTS. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS FOR BOTH.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner

Vegetable soup, 1 cup
Beef stew with onions, carrots, string beans
Wilted green salad
2 heaping tbsps. prune whip
Clear tea or black coffee.
Calory total, 525.

Nice crisp heads of curly endive are in the market now. Slice a head into a big salad bowl together with a head of lettuce, one or two celery hearts and as much onion as you can get away with. Sprinkle with a tiny bit of sugar, and make a bacon-vinegar hot dressing to pour over the greens.

Strange as it may seem, this is a good combination: In cooking prunes sweeten and flavor them with any odds and ends of jelly on hand, or with jellied cranberry sauce.

If the scales are on the up and up with you, it's time you were making tracks away from extra weight. If you wish an easy way to reduce, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and a copy of the SAFE AND SANE REDUCING DIET will be sent you at once. Along with the diet you'll want a good calory list so you can see what you are doing in a food way. You may have my list by making an exchange of one of

SAVE TO BUY and BUY TO SAVE

READ this headline forwards or read it backwards—it gives you the same, sound advice.

You have certain fixed living expenses—rent, food, clothing, light, and other necessities. You save money every week so that these bills can be paid at the first of every month. Whatever else you buy must come from surplus savings, over and above those set apart to cover living costs. To make those savings buy the utmost value for the money is the essence of true economy.

Save to buy—then buy to save. Know what you need to buy before going to the store. Know what you can afford to pay before you start out to make a purchase. That is the one sure way to get the most for your money.

Remember always, "a dollar saved is a dollar earned."

CHOIR TO GIVE PROGRAM FOR M. E. VESPERS

Including a half-hour program of special music, and a talk by Captain W. E. Robb, of Riverside, ex-army chaplain, the 4:30 Vesper service at the First M. E. church Sunday afternoon will hold particular interest.

The chorus choir, under direction of Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh, will offer a program of choruses, instrumental trio, vocal trio and solos.

Captain Robb, the speaker, was one of the hero chaplains of the World war. It is said. Attached to the 16th U. S. infantry, of the Forty-second, or Rainbow, division, he participated in active service at front line trenches from February 20 to November 11, 1918. During that time 700 men of his regiment were killed and 3300 were wounded.

Chaplain Robb was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross with the following citation: "During the pursuit of the enemy across the River Oureq, he distinguished himself by his bravery under fire. During all this time and particularly during the operations near Oureq, he showed the greatest coolness under severe artillery fire, in attending the wounded and dying, and in every way ministering to the needs of the men of his regiment."

Chaplain Robb also holds a written tribute from General Douglas MacArthur, present chief of the army general staff.

At the close of the war he carried on an equally brilliant career. Elected sheriff of Polk county, Iowa, he conducted a vigorous campaign to clean up the city of Des Moines, sending 316 lawbreakers to the penitentiary and seizing more than 200 stills that had been operating in defiance of law.

Tests Of a Christian

Text: 1 John 5:1-12
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for December 30.

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of Advance

From the Christmas story of the coming of Jesus into the world, we turn to the picture of Christ as King and Conqueror.

The topic of our lesson is "Victory Through Christ."
"Be of good cheer," said Jesus to his disciples, "I have overcome the world." Our lesson is a commentary on these words. In his overcoming of the world, Christ gives victory to individual men in their effort to overcome sin and selfishness.

We are living in a world that offers constant incentives to selfishness where it does not tempt men to the grosser sins. Selfishness is in reality the deepest of all sins and is at the root of all sins, but it appears to us clothed in disguised and sometimes attractive forms.

A man may be very unselfish toward his own family or his own group or his own country, but at the same time ruthless in actions as they affect other people and other countries. A man may clothe under the guise of ambition, success, and what is called "enlightened self-interest," a course of life that is utterly out of harmony with Christmas service and the principles of love and brotherhood.

To overcome the world in our own hearts and in our own lives is no cheap or easy victory. We cannot accomplish it unless we live on a high plane where we have the constant inspiration of communion with those who have lived nobly and who have left us a good example.

The height of all such communion with the most inspiring example that it offers, and the power of a Savior to help us, is in our relation to Jesus. To find God revealed in Him, to live so near to Him that his power upholds us and guides us, is to win the victory of faith.

Deep and wide in all our life today is the need of victorious Christian living. We are in a world in which we are talking of new deals and reconstructions, and no sensible man will disparage the need of applying courageous intelligence in the effort to discover better methods of organizing and conducting our social life.

When man finds a better instrument or tool for his purpose than the one he is using, he does not need to be urged to use the new one and discard the old one. And there is a sense, therefore, in which, as we discover a better way of society and men become convinced that it is a better way, we shall enter that way very much as we adopt new inventions and better methods in the physical world.

But underlying all our external life is a persistent problem of man's relationship to his fellow man. No matter how much we improve outward conditions, or social organization, there will still be tragedy in human life where sin and selfishness continue.

When the social engineers have done all in their power to plan and better society, we shall be far short of its achievement unless men have the will and purpose to live in right relationships with one another. Meanness and selfishness will find a means of defeating the highest purposes, unless they themselves are conquered and driven out by love and goodness.

To overcome evil with good is the method and goal of the great struggle in which all good men and women are engaged. This was the supreme purpose of Jesus in coming into the world, and it is the victory through Him we may achieve.

Indefinitely." (b) "You May Have Your Face Lifted." and (c) "1934 Passes—But Not Some Other Things;" organ selections, "Romance" (Rubenstein), and "The Happy Gondolier" (Ashford); closing service with the response "Close to Thee" (Vail) sung by Miss Helm and Mrs. Hillyard. Central Christian Assembly—Sixth and French streets. George L. Rose, minister. Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; morning worship, 11:15 a. m.; evangelistic service, 7:30 p. m.; prayer meeting, Tuesday night; prophetic message, Thursday night.

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

The Serpent Deceives Eve; Man's Shameful Fall

After God created heaven and earth and populated the earth with all manner of living things, He made man in His own image, putting him in the Garden of Eden to care for it. He saw that Adam was lonely and caused a deep sleep to fall upon him. From one of man's ribs God then fashioned woman, and warned the pair not to eat of the fruit of the tree of Knowledge, threatening them with death if they disregarded His commands. But the serpent told Eve not to be afraid, "and she took the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat."—Gen. 3:6. One of a series of Bible pictures by Matthew Merian, Seventeenth century engraver.

Of Jack Frost waved with all his might, and said to the Tines: "I hate to see them go," said he. "They were a sandy bunch."

"However, if they can be found when, once more, Christmas rolls around, I'll send for them and they will come right back, I have a hunch."

Then to his house he slowly went. Long days and nights, of course, he'd spent at hard work. Now he was tired out. He flopped upon a bed.

"Ho, hum," he sighed. "My task is done, and now I'll sleep. That will be fun." In just about two minutes, dreams were running through his head.

The Tines, in the meantime, had lots of fun, and they were glad that their new friend the penguin, kept on moving very fast.

"You're doing great," cried Duncy. "Gee! How you can travel, I can't see. You have small feet. I didn't think that this fine trip would last."

The penguins made a funny noise that tickled all the girls and boys. "I guess he answered you," said Doty. "Wonder what he said?" "Aw, penguins can't talk," Doty cried. "Please keep still and enjoy this ride. I think I see a funny-looking house not far ahead."

"You're right," cried Scouty. "I can see it, too. It rather puzzles me. A funny clock is on the roof. Strange things are everywhere. I'm glad we're heading right that way. We may meet some new friend today. I only hope that the old penguin stops when we get there."

And then they reached the funny house, where all was quiet as a mouse. "Whoa, funny penguin," Scouty cried. "A treat may be in store!"

The big bird promptly stopped, and then the Tines seemed excited when brave Scouty walked right up and started knocking on the door.

MOVING TOWARD 1936

A Washington dispatch reveals plans afoot for the national campaign of 1936. It is assumed that Mr. Roosevelt will be given another term. Mr. Garner, the vice president, it is said, may not want to be buried any longer in the position he now occupies.

For over a quarter of a century he has been in a position where he could do things. As floor leader of his party for many years and speaker of the house, he has wielded great political power.

This he desires to reclaim. Of course, he cannot hope to run for president against Mr. Roosevelt. But there are many other places which he could fill to better advantage than that which he now occupies.

This rumor that Mr. Garner will not be the president's running mate has raised the question of his successor. About every outstanding man in the Democratic party has been named, but the name of Senator Bulkley of Ohio is considered to be the best prospect.

Senator Bulkley has made good in the senate. He was elected by a large majority two years ago to succeed himself. He has stood by the president, and has risen to be a leader in his party, perhaps one of the outstanding leaders.

Just why he should leave his place of influence as a senator, or whether he would think of leaving it, is almost a closed question. A vice president has never been lifted to the presidency except through the death of the president.

Yet in the course of our national history no less than six of our 32 presidents have become president through the death of their superiors—Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt and Coolidge.

That is nearly a 20 per cent chance. But few have been willing to take the chance. Had Mr. Borah been willing to take the nomination in 1920 he would have become president instead of Coolidge. Mr. Borah was actually nominated, but he declined.

It is still a far cry to June, 1936. Many things can happen in the meantime. But political forecasters get into the game early. And this is just about the time they usually take the field.

THE INCREASING MORTALITY OF WARS

A student of the cost of wars has recently pointed out that the mortality of war has increased steadily with the scientific improvement in destructive armaments and chemical agencies. In the South African war, he tells us, the mortality of soldiers engaged was one in 20. In the World war, it was one in 10. And in the little war which has been going on between Paraguay and Bolivia in the uninhabited district of the Gran Chaco, the mortality has been one in five.

If these figures are approximately accurate, as they undoubtedly are, what will be the percentage of mortality in another general war, such as many believe is imminent in the world before many years? Every year we are hearing of some new invention that can put a whole army out of business in one battle.

But, then, what is a human life worth when governments encourage mothers to bear children for no other purpose than to serve for cannon fodder? In Germany, Italy and in Japan, the highest honor is paid to the woman who has the most children.

The capacity to beget life is greater than the power of war to destroy life. Then what does it matter if one in five who engage in war are left to fertilize the fields of battle? There are more lives here than there were before.

We used to think of the value of the individual. But it seems that we are losing that attitude toward human life. When a country is fighting for more territory, human lives are one with the beasts that are led to the slaughter.

And that, too, in Christian lands, which a few days ago paid the highest homage to the Saviour who came to bring peace upon earth, and who said, "How much, then is man better than a sheep."

THE COST OF FOOTBALL

The overemphasis of the game of football in the colleges of the country has been repeatedly commented upon. But it has been left for President Hutchinson of Washington and Jefferson college, in Washington, Pa., to arrest the attention of the college world to the cost of football. Here is a college of less than 500 students, with 28 teachers, which spent $40,000 last year for a team which would occupy a prominent place on the national gridiron stage.

The average amount given to the men on the football squad in the way of scholarships, board, room rent, books, and sundries amounted to $800; and but one-tenth of the student body of a little less than 500 belonged to the football squad. It appears to be one of those colleges, defined by a Chinese student who toured this country, as an institution which furnished an education only for the feeble-bodied.

This team, it may be recalled, played the University of California at Pasadena in 1922 to a scoreless tie. Needless to say, the game has been outplayed, and the young president, after studying the course of events for the last three years, has put an end to it. It may be that from now on, Washington and Jefferson college will become an educational institution instead of an athletic club.

If this were an exceptional case, it would not matter much; but there are scores of colleges over the country which are guilty of doing the same thing. But their presidents, perhaps fearing the alumni, who believe that a winning team is the greatest honor a college may achieve, are not as outspoken as President Hutchinson of Washington and Jefferson college.

ON RETIRING MEN AT SIXTY

We notice that an esteemed contemporary, speaking against the popular idea of pensioning those above 60 and taking them out of productive work, laments, because of the valuable work that many past 60 years of age have done.

This paper cites several instances, the work of Immanuel Kant at 74; of Verdi at the same age; of Lamarck at 78; of Oliver Wendell Holmes at 79; and Goethe at 80. But in all these cases it should be noted that they were writers or musicians, and everything they did they could have done and probably would have done under the present scheme of taking them out of regular hired employment.

The only one instance cited by the paper of those who accomplished work, that would not be done under the present suggested scheme of things, was Commodore Vanderbilt, who made a hundred million dollars after 70 years of age.

While we would admit that Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," which he composed at 83; Goethe's "Faust," which he completed at 80; and Oliver Wendell Holmes' "Over the Teacups," which he wrote at 79, are invaluable contributions to the good of mankind, yet all of these could have been done and would be done whether the particular genius were gainfully employed or not.

And it would be an open question whether the composition of the Vanderbilt fortune is such that the world has been comparably benefited thereby. It so happens in human economy that the really valuable contributions that are made to humanity, whether through the route to invention, music, literature, or art, are made by men under circumstances that are not augmented in their power by financial income.

BRIGHTER DAYS

The news from financial circles is the brightest that it has been for a number of years. The average price of stocks shot upward yesterday on the stock exchange to the highest it has been since last June.

A number of big corporations have increased their dividends; nearly all which have been reporting losses have reduced the amounts, and many of them have changed from the "red" into the "black."

Donald Richberg, the head of the NRA, and reputed to be one of the most influential men, if not the most influential man with the president, says that employment has increased to the number of several million.

The general belief is that "we are on our way." There are some things, to be sure, which need to be ironed out, notably those connected with the government with relief and unemployment.

But in the light of the general conditions and the spirit which dominates the people, this problem should not be as serious as it was a year and a half ago and there are some things that are coming out more clearly.

The real issue is whether the cheaper method of looking after the needy will be pursued by the government by giving them their required money or relief directly, or whether it will be carried on in the form of great public works, which will absorb several times the amount of money that the other method would take.

There has been created in the country such a prejudice against the former method that it would be difficult to adopt it even if our statesmen thought it wise. But this will be worked out in some manner. At this writing there is a tone of confidence, not to say jubilation.

Baron Krupp Ousted

Oakland Tribune
For years Krupp has been the large name for munitions in Germany and Europe. With the removal of Baron Krupp von Bethlen as leader of the industry, that name is erased by a Nazi policy of taking industrial control from the hands of those who were powerful in the imperial days.

The representative of the family which began its operations so long ago as 1800 is replaced by Dr. Ewald Hecker, who was delegate of the German Red Cross in the United States from 1914 to 1916.

Commenting on the history of the Krupps, the Bakersfield Californian says that the Krupp Works are famous the world over for their steel and for their munitions, the founder of the firm, one Friedrich Krupp, having possessed a secret formula for making cast-steel, which he bequeathed to his son who in turn passed it to his heirs. In the Franco-Prussian war, the Krupp Works perfected a breech-loading rifle which was furnished the Prussian army and during the World War the gigantic plant, which employed some 115,000 workers from 1914 to 1918, provided the Central Powers with most of the munitions used by them in the conflict, with a production average at one time of as many as 40,000 shells daily. During that period Bertha Krupp, wife of Baron Krupp, was the principal owner of the works and her husband was chief director.

Usual Formula For War

Riverside Daily Press
Bolivia and Paraguay are providing a first-rate laboratory model of war between major powers. Their bloody little war seems to have all the earmarks of what we refer to as a sanguinary conflict in small proportion.

We find President Luis Tejada Sorzano of Bolivia announcing that his country will "send its entire male population" to the Gran Chaco to fight, if necessary. The nation, he says, has refused no honorable chance to end the war; meanwhile the war proceeds "and we must do our duty."

Now this is the perfect reflection of the traditional attitude of the head of a war-making state. We must fight to the last man, we must make every sacrifice, we must make no peace unless honor is satisfied. . . . those phrases are made familiar by many generations of war and its attendant proclamations.

While truckmen rage and swear.
He dashes over sidewalks,
No signals does he heed,
Nor fears no fate
If he can save
His dreadful thirst for speed.

Sometimes a rude policeman
Will bid him to beware,
But on he flies
While startled eyes
Blink at him everywhere.
He bounces over curbs,
He shoots across a lawn,
Then with a shout
He wheels about
And suddenly is gone.

The dogs turn tail and scamper,
The cats climb up the trees,
The horses shy
While he glides by.
Extremely ill at ease,
And all the worried neighbors
Shout loudly "Why, indeed,
Should that small child
Run simply wild
On that velocipede?"

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

THE SURGEONS KEEP AN OPEN MIND

Continuing my discussion of the opinions of various medical groups to a system of socialized medicine, I want to present today the "eight point program" of the American College of Surgeons which this body of distinguished men adopted on June 10, 1934.

(1) The American College of Surgeons affirms its desire to cooperate with other agencies for the provision of more adequate medical service to the whole community.

(2) The College believes it is the duty of the medical profession to assume leadership in this movement and to take control of all measures directed to this end.

(3) Encouragement should be given to the trial of new methods of practice designed to meet these needs, and a careful evaluation of their success should be the duty of the medical profession before they are offered for general adoption.

(4) The College recognizes for immediate study four groups of the population for whom more adequate medical service should be made available, as follows: (a) The indigent; (b) The uneducated and credulous members of the community; (c) Those who because of limited resources are unable, unaided, to meet the costs of serious illness and hospitalization; (d) Those living in remote districts where adequate medical service is not obtainable.

(5) The care of the indigent sick should be a direct obligation upon the community and (unless otherwise compensated by benefits such as staff and teaching appointments, opportunity and experience) physicians fulfilling this public service should receive remuneration.

(6) The College should work in cooperation with other medical groups in order to dispel the ignorance and credulity of the public, and to bring the people to a proper realization of the protective and curative resources of modern medicine.

(7) The American College of Surgeons recognizes that the periodic pre-payment plan providing for the costs of medical care of illness and injury of individuals and of families of moderate means offers a reasonable expectation of providing them with more effective methods of securing adequate medical service. Periodic pre-payment plans providing for the costs of medical service may be divided into two classes: (a) Payment for medical service; (b) Payment for hospitalization. Plans for the payment of hospitalization alone, without provision for payment for medical service, may be considered the first project to be undertaken in the average community. Certain general principles can and should be established, the observance of which will tend to obviate known difficulties and dangers which may threaten the success of these special forms of medical service:

a. Periodic pre-payment plans for medical service should be free from the intervention of commercial intermediary organizations operating for profit.

b. In the interest of the patient, the organization of plans for the periodic payment of medical and hospital costs must be under the control of the medical profession. The medical profession must act in concert with the hospitals and such other allied services as may be involved in the individual project, together with a group of citizens representative of the whole community and of industry who are interested in the successful operation of the plan.

c. The principle of free choice of the physician and hospital by the patient must be assured to the end that the responsibility of the individual physician to the individual patient shall always be maintained.

d. The compensation of the physician and the hospital should be estimated with due regard to the resources available in the periodic payment fund and should be based upon the specific services rendered.

e. The organization and operation of any plan of this type must be free from any features not in accordance with the code of ethics of the medical profession.

f. The medical organizations participating in such a plan must assume the responsibility for the quality of service rendered.

8. Periodic pre-payment plans for medical and hospital service should eliminate many of the conditions which have brought about the development of industrial contract practice.

EARNED CONFIDENCE

George asked for permission to go to a dance. This was granted on the condition that he leave the ballroom at half past one, get the girl home by two and be home himself about twenty three. He agreed to do this willingly. "Of course, that's late enough," said George. "I'll have her home before that time."

Four o'clock in the morning the telephone rang and an excited voice demanded to know where Marguerite was. Hadn't George promised to see that she was home by two and here it was four? What did they mean by having such a boy take their daughter out? A search must be begun and at once.

"O, gee, what's the fuss about? The dance didn't begin, hardly, until twelve. Could we leave right in the middle of it? Well, when I promised that I thought the dance would begin on time. Was it my fault it didn't begin?"

When George borrowed his father's bag because his own was not big enough to carry all he needed for the out of town football game his father said, "Certainly. But be sure I get it back because I must use it this coming Friday." When father asked about his bag George didn't know what happened to it. He left it right on the floor of the locker room and when he came back it wasn't there and nobody had seen it and he had left it right there, right in front of everybody.

So George wonders why his father and mother don't cheerfully give him a key and free permission to go his way in everything. He cannot have a latch key, he cannot make engagements without his father's knowledge, he has to ask permission just as he said, for this and for that. He does not know the reason although he has often been told.

Young men and young women, anxious to be considered responsible adults must earn the confidence they crave by being responsible young people. Responsible adults do not emerge from irresponsible boys and girls. There is always a reason for one's unhappiness. It is generally a personal one.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent reply.)
